Hmmm, very interesting!

Recognizing numbers is a puzzling experience for these four youngsters during a morning session at the Airport Kindergarten. Children from left, are Chris LeGrand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil LeGrand; Jay Kage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kage; Janesa Pittman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Pittman; and Donna Pollard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pollard, all of Sikeston. Their teacher, Nancy Williams, shows them how to match the numbers to the appropriate illustrations. (Daily Standard Photo)

V C release 34 more prisoners

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — The Viet Cong released 34 more prisoners of war in Hanoi today, including the only foreign woman held by the Communists, and a U.S. Air Force hospital plane brought them to Clark Air Base for a presidential welcome.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos was on hand because two Filipino employes of the Voice of America were among those freed, along with 27 American military men, three American civilians and two West German medical workers.

One of the Germans was nurse Monika Schwinn, 30, who was captured near Da Nang April 27, 1969.

It was the second prisoner release in two days. On Sunday, the North Vietnamese freed 106 Americans and two Thais in Hanoi.

First off the plane today was the ranking American military member of the group, Army Capt. Stephen R. Leopold, 28, of Milwaukee, Wis.

"My God, you don't know how good it is to be free, how good it is to be home," he said in a brief speech.

The POWs were dressed in the same gray shirts and dark slacks that other prisoners who have returned from Hanoi have worn.

All but one of the American military men smartly saluted the American flag before stepping down the ramp to be greeted by Marcos, Adm. Noel Gayler, commander in chief of U.S. forces in the Pacific; U.S. Ambassador Henry A Byroade, and the commander of the 13th Air Force, Lt. Gen. William G. Moore Jr.

Marine Sgt. Frank E. Cius Jr., 36, who was captured June 3, 1967, saluted Gayler as he stepped down but not the colors. He was the only POW to be released so far for whom the military has not announced a home town. They said this was done at the request of his family.

Also on the flight were five members of the armed forces radio television network captured in Hue during the Tet offensive on Feb. 3, 1968.

They were Marine Capt. James V. Dibernardo, 38, of Mission Viejo, Calif., commander of the unit, Army Spec. 5 Jose M. Astorga, 22, of San Diego, Calif.; Army S.Sgt. John A. Deering, 30, of Durham, N.C., Army S.Sgt. Harry L. Ettmueller, 29, of Pleasantville, N.J., and M.Sgt. Donat Joseph Gouin, 44, of Lima, Ohio.

The three American civilians were Clodeon Adkins, 57, of Homeland, Calif., Michael Dennis Benge, 37, of Heppner, Ore. and Lawrence J. Stark, 37, of Chicago, Ill. All were captured during the Tet offensive in 1968.

Miss Schwinn, who was working for the Maltese Aid Service Mission when she was captured, managed a brief smile as she stepped into the glare of the television lights.

Hearing set tonight

'Right to work' on agenda

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A bill to forbid mandatory union membership in Missouri helps kick off the legislature's third month of the 76th general session.

The so-called "right to work" bill will be heard by the House Labor Committee tonight after both houses convene at 4 p.m.

The right-to-work measuge aroused emotion before its first committee hearing, with the sponsor accusing the labor committee chairman of being hostile to the bill.

The right-to-work sponsor, Rep. Vic Downing, D-Bragg City, charged during the weekend that Rep. Earl Schlef, D-Dellwood, the House Labor Committee chairman, had remarked that the measure "is as good as dead" before it was heard in committee.

Those in favor of the bill will be heard tonight. Opponents will be heard next week. If passed, the bill would prohibit the closed union shop in Missouri.

Committee action is expected to taper off somewhat this week as flour action increases. The House will continue double sessions and the Senate is expected to add an afternoon session on Tuesday or Wednesday.

The flow of new legislation was shut off Thursday after 1,200 new bills and resolutions had been filed.

Controversial issues coming up for debate this week on the floor in both houses are bills to reinstate the death penalty. The House bill has a clause saying that if the U.S. Supreme Court declares one section of the bill to be unconstitutional, the rest of it would stand.

Government reorganization will take up lawmakers' time this week.

Council to consider annexation

The City Council will consider the annexation of 1,500 acres of land when it meets tonight at 7:30 in the City Administrative Building.

Tracts of land to be considered include 1,200 acres north of the Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo grounds and east to Interstate 55, the LaValle property southwest of Sikeston along Highway 60 and the Cummins Diesel property on the southern edge of the city near Highway 60.

The land was recommended for annexation by the city planning and zoning commission.

The largest expense in adding the property to the city will be the cost of extending city utilities to the annexed areas.

Also on the agenda is an ordinance authorizing the city to pay for the refurbishing of the Jaycee swimming pool. The estimated cost is around $60,000.

In molestation case

Man held for investigation

NEW MADRID — Ozel Schumate, 45, who is under three - year probation on a robbery conviction, is being held for investigation of suspected child molestation.

Shumate was among four men charged with kidnaping, rape and robbery of a young couple near Kewanee in March 1971.

According to police, two young brothers, ages 9 and 11, and Shumate were in a laundrymat on Powell Street about 9 p.m. Sunday. The older boy first left the laundrymat to walk home, expecting his brother to follow soon. When the younger boy failed to arrive home, police were notified. About 2:30 a.m., the boy was seen walking on Mott Street by policeman Russell Cobb.

The boy told police he had gone to Shumate's house on Capitol Street to clean his bathroom after Shumate had offered him $2. After entering the house, Shumate, who was reportedly drinking, locked the door and allegedly molested the youth. The boy told police he was released shortly before officer Cobb had seen him.

Two younger men, Carl Shumate Jr. and Robert Schollmeyer, are serving 15 year terms for rape and robbery. Kidnaping charges were dropped against them.

Ozell Shumate and his brother, Carl Shumate Sr., were convicted on robbery charges in September 1971 and placed on probation. Rape and kidnaping charges against them were dismissed.

2 stabbed at Haywood City

BENTON — Two men were stabbed Sunday morning in Hamilton Cafe in Haywood City, but the stabbings were not connected, according to Scott County Sheriff John Dennis.

Milton Moore of haywood City was taken to the emergency room at the Missouri Delta Community Hospital after he received knife wounds behind his left ear and his left side between his lung and kidney.

Moore told authorities that a man had fallen asleep on a table in the cafe and when Moore tried to wake him up, the man, who had reportedly been drinking, jumped up and started stabbing Moore.

George Rule of Sikeston Route Four was taken to the emergency room after he was beaten up by two men outside the cafe. Rule told authorities the two men stomped him but he didn't know he had been stabbed. He said he did not know the men.

He received cuts in his head and a knife wound on his back, between the shoulder blades.

A color television stolen from the El Capri Motel the last of January was recovered Friday afternoon after the Sheriff's department received a telephone call from someone, stating they knew where a stolen television was.

The television was recovered in the home of Joe James Jr., 20, in Miner. James was arrested in a home in Morehouse Saturday, hiding under the bed.

Also arrested Saturday in connection with the stolen television were Robert Lee Horton, 23, of Sikeston and Bobby Palmer, 23.

James was released on $1,000 bond. The other two men are still in custody.

The Sheriff's department investigated.

Fire damages restaurant

EAST PRAIRIE— A fire, believed to have started from faulty wiring, damaged the Southern Kitchen restaurant on North Washington Drive about 4:45 p.m. Sunday.

The restaurant, operated by Linda Bisher, will be closed for a few days for repairs due to smoke damage.

The building is owned by M.C. Brewer.

Madrid jail contract signed

NEW MADRID — New Madrid County Court this morning signed a $47,000 contract with Dien Construction Co. of Dexter for operations, alterations and improvements of the county jail.

Specifications call for most of the work to be on the upper story of the structure and will improve it to exceed minimum standards for penal institutions. The jail was built in 1914 at a cost of $16,500.

The improvements are being financed by a $12,500 grant from the Bootheel Law Enforcement Assistance Council, a $25,000 federal grant and the balance by county general revenue.

Other bids were received from Boyer Construction Co. of Sikeston for $57,800 and Jackson Excavation Co. of Jackson for $56,013.

2 arrested on weapons charges

Two men were arrested early Sunday morning after allegedly threatening to kill two men Saturday night at Russell's Bull Dog Inn on East Malone Avenue, according to police.

Jimmy Dale Ray, 24, of 1618 Matthews was charged with displaying a dangerous and deadly weapon, and Thomas Lee Brasenell, 25, of 320 Missouri was charged with discharging a firearm in the city limits and displaying a dangerous and deadly weapon.

They were amont 16 persons arrested over the weekend, including three Kansas City youths, who police say were caught breaking into vending machines at the MFA service station on East Malone Ave.

Ray and Brasenell were allegedly sitting in a car parked next to the Bull Dog Inn about 11:30 p.m. Saturday and ordered Lanny Lee of Charleston to go into the restaurant and tell a man they were going to kill him. Police did not identify the intended victim.

The two allegedly told Lee that if he did not deliver the message they would kill him, also.

As Lee started toward the restaurant, Brasenell allegedly stepped out of the car and fired a 16- gauge shotgun into the air. The owner of the Bull Dog Inn, Mrs. Cliff Russell, heard the shot and called police.

When police arrived the two men had already left. Police said Mrs. Russell and a waitress knew who the two men were but refused to say anything.

Police officers Walter Wilson and Ronald Lanford decided to wait in the shadows behind the restaurant to see if Ray and Brasenell would return. Shortly after midnight, they did return and were arrested.

Police were holding Anthony Earl Brown, 18, Charles George Hixon, 18, and a juvenile, all of Kansas City this morning for allegedly breaking into a cigarette machine at the MFA Service Station, 942 E. Malone.

Police saw the three drive out of the service station about 12:18 a.m. today and, at the same time, noticed the cigarette machine had been broken open.

Policemen Marshall Moore and Jack Patterson pulled the car over and took

PROMISES NOT FULFILLED

At ten o'clock on Friday night, February 2, 1973, Washington, D.C. Police and the FBI arrested a self-styled "revolutionary" and put him in jail. At the time of arrest the prisoner was carrying a sawed-off .303 rifle -- the same gun which, it is known, was used to murder at least four innocent victims since the first of the year. All had been slaughtered in cold blood. Robbery was not the motive, but hate.

There is another part to the story, but it, too is not unusual. The self- same suspect had been arrested less than two months before, charged with several minor offenses, fined $205 and released after being held less than 20 hours in a detention center.

At the time of his first arrest, the suspect, who was standing outside of his automobile made a sudden lunge toward the car, but he was halted when the police drew their guns and ordered him to stop.

Reaching in the car, one of the policemen picked up a snub-nosed, .38 caliber revolver from the floor of the car in front of the driver's seat. The suspect did not have a Washington permit to carry a gun. The gun law carries stiff penalties. But the suspect was not charged with this crime.

Why?

Because the arresting police picked the gun up off the floor of the car without a search warrant.

One of the campaign promises made by President Nixon, when he was running for office five years ago, was that he would correct the inbalance in law which protects criminals at the expense of the innocent.

It is perfectly clear that the legal mess left by the ultra-liberal Warren court is still costing the lives of law-abiding citizens, while criminals are allowed to roam at will, because of court - created loopholes in the law.

This is one campaign promise that has yet to be fulfilled. Let us hope that Mr. Nixon will get around to it, and quickly.

If you run across a man who is cross and surly, despite the fact that you greet him civilly, it is usually a sign that somebody got the best of him. But he probably was not cross to the person who got the best of him: he is cross to his friends, who are good natured and polite.

A Sikeston man was popular because he always defended people behind their backs. When people get together, they are apt to talk about their best friends, first seeing that no kin of those attacked are present. This man always mildly defended those talked about, if they were worthy of defense, and they usually were. Then those who began the assault agreed that it was a shame to abuse good people. You can always stop bad talk of any kind, if you want to. People are ashamed when they act unfairly.

NEW YORK (AP) — Opportunity knocks but once, they say, but sometimes it's better to turn a deaf ear to the door.

One of the times to let opportunity beat its knuckles in vain on your portal is when it comes to offer you a job you don't want.

Many people make a sorry brag that they undoubtedly have the worst job in the whole wide world. That couldn' be true for all of them. No matter how boring, vexing or worrisome your job is, you usually can look around and see someone who has a job so bad you wouldn't trade yours for it.

Here, for example, are a few jobs I wouldn't want to moonlight on — let a one work at them full time:

Quality taster at a library paste factory.

A mermaid at the aquarium.

A door-to-door anvil salesman.

A human fly with arthritis.

Resident dentist on an alligator farm.

An obstetrician for elephants.

A bra manufacturer during a rubber shortage.

Talent scout for a kiddies television show.

Superintendent of an old-fashioned county poor farm.

The official handshaker at a convention of octopuses.

Chairman of the entertainment committee at a national meeting of Mafia leaders.

Stand-in in a wax museum.

Morale officer in a concentration camp.

A bathing suit salesman in Siberia.

The night watchman at the city dog pound.

The tax attorney for Howard Hughes.

The dietician for Jackie Gleason.

The social secretary for Count Dracula and his family.

And now do you still think you've got the worst job in the world?

THE MISSOURI PRESS AND RIGHT TO WORK

St. Louis Globe Democrat -- "Right to Work laws are not anti- labor but pro- worker. They give the worker the rights guaranteed him in the First, Fifth and Ninth Amendments to the Constitution -- the rights of speech, privacy, association and choice. They balance the right to join with the right not to join. No person should be required to belong and pay money to a private organization in order to earn a living . . . The House Labor Committee must, in fairness to all workingmen, report the Right to Work bill out of committee. Then it should be passed by the House and the Senate, "February 19, 1973.

Nevada Herald -- "Right to Work does not interfere in any way with legitimate union activity. It does not restrict the right of employes to organize and bargain collectively . . . Rather, the only question posed by the Right to Work principle is whether an American citizen can be compelled to join and make financial contributions to any organization -- church, labor union, lodge or civic club -- in order to get or hold a job, "February 18, 1973.

Cape Girardeau Southeast Missourian -- "Along with the right to join a union is an equal right -- the right not to join as a condition of employment. This right is as essential, and as equitable, as the right to belong to a union. A worker should have the right to union membership or to refrain from union membership as he wishes . . . The Missourian is of the opinion the Right to Work bill is a good one and should be adopted by the legislature," February 21, 1973.

Columbia Daily Tribune -- "A union can be an important, worthwhile organization in the eyes of a worker. If he thinks it is he should be utterly free to join without any pressure to the contrary. But unless he really feels he is getting positive help from the organization, he should not be compelled to join . . . We think this is legitimate legislation and should be passed," February 21, 1973.

Fulton Kingdom Daily News -- "Personal freedom continues to be a disappearing commodity, and while many times we lay the blame on government, there are other factors that are whittling away the freedom of the individual in America. One of those factors is compulsory unionism," February 19, 1973.

Rock Port Mail -- "Compulsory union membership is the source of union officials' excessive political and economic power. It is the real root of most of the corruption in labor unions today. . . . Right to Work simply means that an individual has the right to join a union, and a corollary right to refrain from joining a union without losing his job. Right to Work Guarantees a Free Choice," January 25, 1973.

Kirksville Express & News -- "More and more people are asking the question of how the cause of liberty and civil rights can be anything more than an empty phrase as long as the tyranny of union compulsion is ignored," February 20, 1973.

Jefferson City News Tribune -- "Although many rank and file union members are for a Right to Work law, many union officials oppose it. A few irresponsible union officials want compulsory membership because they don't want their members to have the right to quit their union, regardless of how their leaders behave. Some union officials are against the proposal simply because they are too lazy to build an effective union to stand on its own merit. Some union organizers claim unions would crumble without compulsory membership. This is pure bunk and they know it. This simply has not happened in states with Right to Work laws that ban compulsory union membership. If a union is effective and provides the kind of leadership wanted, employes will want to join," March 1, 1973.

Up until now, researchers, policy makers and drug educators have worked from the premise that a child's level of information and the pressures from his peers and ethnic group were the key factors causing the continuing advance of drug use. But recent research indicates that a child's drug conduct can be predicted with very high accuracy merely by examining the family from which he comes. This new concept doesn't junk the old factors, it just puts them in second place.

The old factors led us to believe that the only hope in drug education was in the schools. Their failure is not their blame. The socio-psychological forces which produce the present patterns of children's drug use are such that any school intervention is not likely to have a remarkable impact. It is the business of the schools to cultivate minds which inquire and question authority. Teachers can and should demonstrate conformity to laws and community standards, but they can't teach it.

For the most part, the family is to blame, but it can't be coerced or punished. It must be taught, and not with textbooks. PTA's, churches, unions, community centers and other such institutions will be the forums where people can learn the business of communication and becoming good parents.

The task will be difficult, but the possibilities are astronomical. The drug issue has gotten us to our feet; and it's a good reason to start moving. The ill health of the American family is the source of more than just the drug problem.

TECHNOLOGICAL TURNAROUND

A release from a southern power company illustrates the positive new trend that is gradually gaining momentum in the environmental battle-- a trend that reflects the necessity of finding ways to turn environmental problems into environmental assets.

According to a release from the electric company, the fly ash from the company's stacks, instead of escaping into the atmosphere to create pollution, is now to be captured and put to productive use. In the words of the release, "Very shortly, the bricks you use in building your home barbecue pit may have had part of their origin at a...power company steam-electric generating plant. The same may be said for the concrete blocks used in building homes, fertilizer for those home- grown tomatoes, and for the asphalt and concrete paving in front of your home." The release announced the company's plan to develop facilities at its power plant sites to collect the fly ash and process it into a valuable substance.

Another bane in the life of the environmentalist has been so- called "thermal pollution" or warm water discharges from power plants. This warm water is also being turned into an asset rather than a liability. It is said to increase agricultural yields in Oregon's Willamette Valley, and experiments have shown that it speeds the growth of food fish and aids in the production of clams, shrimp and oysters.

Solving problems of environmental pollution by breakthrough in technology could well open the way to unprecedented progress and a better life. Thus, science offers hope in place of the philosophy of despair that seems to prevail among dead-end environmentalists.

PROVEN IN THE MARKETPLACE

High- powered advertising and promotion that reaches a point of excess that offends rather than informs is condemned as heartily by business as it is by consumers. But, this type of business-getting practice is far less prevalent than most people realize and should not be permitted to obscure the legitimate function of promotion and advertising.

Mr. Samuel S. Talbert in the Department of Journalism at the University of Mississippi tells of the results of a study that indicates the manner in which advertising aids the shopper. From advertising, consumers "...can tell about such things as the store's size, its appearance and displays, efficiency of operation, trustworthiness." Through advertising, the consumer can make judgments on courtesy, the nature of customers and salesmen, the quality of merchandise, and the style of goods sold-- information that can help the consumer select the type of store which is suited to her taste and her financial status.

In other words, advertising is an important feature of the free market system. It would be rejected by the self- policing mechanism of the system if it served no useful economic function. The same is true of promotional practices which merchants use to build volume sales. One of the most popular of these is the trading stamp which for years, in common with other forms of promotion and advertising, has been subjected to punitive legislative proposals. These proposals never get anywhere, because they rest on false economic premises, and consumers have the wisdom to know it.

Time after time, trading stamps have been singled out for special criticism and attack. Yet, time after time, impartial studies have shown that they have little or no effect on prices, that they are favored by consumers and that they, like advertising, are an economically sound feature of the marketplace. They have a proven capacity to stimulate high- volume sales, and it is high volume that builds mass distribution of goods at minimum prices.

AN OLD STORY

Mrs. Butler: "Did you meet your son at the station?"

Mrs. Wilkins: "Oh goodness no! I've known him for years."

H. L. Hunt

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Prosecutors in various states have asked for public support in their efforts to reinstate capital punishment as a primary weapon in combatting the problem of violent crime. They need persuasive public opinion to get legislatures to enact statutes that would call for the death penalty in certain categories of offenses, particularly murder. The machinery of law enforcement must also be re- oiled to cope with assaults on police officers. Far too many policemen are being attacked, in some cases fatally.

The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States last year in outlawing the death penalty declared, in effect, open season on police officers and innocent citizens as far as homicidal criminals are concerned. The high court did, however, leave a loophole for state legislatures. They can enact new statutes to replace those that were held unconstitutional. The Supreme Court's reasoning in abolishing the death penalty does not hold water rationally. The Court ruled, in effect, that death penalties were "cruel and unusual" punishment. The decision did not take into account what happened to the victims of the killer. Some way, our state legislatures must recognize the right of the innocent citizen to live. They also should provide adequate punishment for those who feloniously take lives.

Those district attorneys in the various counties of the nation who have not advocated new legislation already should do so as theirs is the area where the law ultimately is enforced. The urging of citizens will help this cause. For those prosecutors who already have made statute proposals to the lawmaking bodies, a letter of support will help correct a mistake made by the Supreme Court. The time to act is now. Crime must be halted. HLH

Nation's Pay Czar Vows He'll Head Off Tough Strikes This Year

WASHINGTON— Harvard's Arts and Sciences dean, Prof. John Dunlop, the toughest pragmatic theorist since Pericles, finally has decided to make peace with the press -- for what he might call "a family" of reasons: as Lyndon Johnson once said, the papers come out every day and he doesn't. In fact, Dunlop, the drafted economic czar of all Americans, doesn't want to come out at all.

But neither does he wish, as director of the all-powerful Cost of Living Council, to have the press whip up the rank-and-file in an industry or a region if workers in another business or sector get higher wage increases.

So for these and other reasons, Prof. Dunlop called some 15 newsmen to a second-floor suite Wednesday morning and held a seminar more highly significant than it appears.

This fantastically brilliant dean, who lives on airplanes shuttling between Cambridge and the old Pay Board headquarters and Labor Dept., blew the whistle on the old 5.5 per cent annual wage increase theory, which Mr. Nixon's confidential adviser John Ehrlichman calls ancient "folklore" --- and started a whole new ballgame.

Prof. Dunlop now is the nation's labor disputes chief. Singlehandedly he will be the broker in every major labor contract negotiation for the duration.

Old-fashioned stabilization is gone. The old Pay Board merely computed. It avoided dispute like the London flu. Prof. Dunlop has reversed this. He'll be the infighter, whether it's the crisis in rubber (April 20), or GE, or auto, and even in the 1974 steel negotiations.

He'll get in first with the most for both sides. What does this mean in average wage increases as nearly as can be predicted? Well, as chairman of the Construction Industry Stabilization Committee (CISC) he permitted, or held (depending on your views), the average building and construction union pay and fringe raise to 8.2 per cent in 1972.

Thus the nation now can expect this figure as one Dunlop believes permissible for this past year and I will presume as the floor for increases this year around the country. So one might look to "average" industry raises in fringes and cash running to 9, 10 even 11 per cent annually.

During the so-called anonymous breifing by "a high Cost of Living Council official" (who , of course, was John Dunlop himself), he made it clear that it would be tough to avoid crises. But he would have, he said, the advantage of more than 30 years of practice and study in labor relations. During this time he said he had developed contacts with leaders in labor and management. This is telling it like it is. He is the one man in the construction industry both sides --- and they are tough --- swear by, not at.

But Dunlop, who got construction union chiefs up for a 6:30 a.m. breakfast in Bal Harbour, Fla., last week, is not dealing with construction alone now. He has that industry under contol. And at a good shake for the unions. Now he's dealing with labor chiefs he really doesn't know too well , many of whom are allergic to Ivy League professors.

Like every strong man, he knows his weaknesses. He fears an outbreak of the British "strike-a - day" type of revolt against stabilization standards. He fears being shot at when wage settlements go --- as they will --- almost double the 5.5 per cent standard. He fears being misunderstood by the press.

So he explains what appears to be his personal early--warning alert system. It seems to observers he was saying the Cost of Living Council --- meaning himself and labor's friend, Secretary of the Treasury Shultz --- will use a backdoor approach to looming contract disputes.

They will keep a low profile. They will move where they can. Get to United Rubber Workers' chief Peter Bommarito (soon to be recognized as one of labor's strong men) when his union gets deep into negotiations with the Big Four rubber companies. Get to Paul Jennings at the Internationals Union of Electrical Workers before positions are frozen in the drive for a new contract with General Electric and Westinghouse.

He will even move shortly for talks with the auto union's Leonard Woodcock and colleagues in the various Big Three auto field.

And there is talk of attempting to bring Big Steel's Heath Larry and big steel labor's I.W. Abel together for an early agreement, months in advance of the 1974 deadline, on voluntary arbitration. This is a good moment for such a daring move. Abel and Walter Burke (union's national secretary treasurer) must retire at the end of their new term in mid - 1977. They are in a strong position to argue with their 1.2 million rank and filers. Union president Abel long has wanted such a system of voluntary arbitration to avoid a national steel strike.

If anybody can father this, Dunlop can. Perhaps he'll be able to ward off strikes and even strike crises. It will have to be stabilization of mediation, argumentation and manipulation.

That's Dunlop's way. He's so eager to try, he's now even willing to explain it all to newsmen. The infexible professor is showing such flexibility he may yet succeed.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON— Despite a booming economy and a more stable dollar, the stock market is tumbling. The biggest reason, among many, is that the small investors have lost faith in Wall Street.

This has stirred the flamboyant financier, Ross Perot, to the rescue. He is preparing to launch a million-dollar campaign to save Wall Street.

"Mom and pop aren't coming to Wall Street any more," Perot told us during a visit to our offices. "So' I'm going to bring Wall Street to them."

Perot hopes to accomplish this with a massive media campaign that will include homilies on the do's and dont's of playing the stock market. He has bypassed Madison Avenue and authored the forthcoming newspaper appeals himself.

He hopes his campaign will persuade "the little guy" to invest in duPont Glore Forgan, the prestigious securities firm that nearly fell apart two years ago. Perot stepped in and rebuilt duPont with loans totalling nearly $80 million. He now exercises so much control that he personally hires each new member of the 2,500- man firm.

The bantam- weight billionaire-- promising "straight talk and no bull"- will stress conservative buying on Wall Street. "This is no gimmick." he swears. "The little guy is our institution. He has been scared away from Wall Street because it has forgotten how to protect the original money invested. We're going to change all that. Wall Street won't ever be the same again."

Footnote: Meanwhile, Perot is locked in a fierce competitive battle behind the scenes with IBM to land a hugh social services computer contract in New York State. Perot's computer firm, Electronic Data Systems, apparently was in trouble in the early bidding last month. So Perot made a quiet trip to New York City where he met with Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and the state's social welfare chief, Abe Levine. As a result, some 10 other firms, which didn't meet with Rockefeller, were eliminated from the bidding. Now Perot has 60 days to come up with a proposal better than either IBM or Tourche Ross, which are also included in the final bidding. At stake is the biggest contract ever awarded by a state to computerize welfare and Medicaid.

Washington Whirl

CHANGING CAUSES--Antiwar activists have been looking for a new cause since the Vietnam cease-fire was signed. Many are switching to the antipoverty crusade. Already, antiwar leaders are trying to rally their followers to demonstrate against the budget cuts in the antipoverty programs. They're talking about a "summer of discontent" this year and promising to fill the jails to dramatize the plight of the poor.

ECONOMY FOR OTHERS-- President Nixon's new defense chief, Elliot Richardson, has a reputation as a great economizer. He has vowed sternly to enforce the President's economy edicts at the Pentagon. But Richardson is less solicitous of the taxpayers' money when it comes to satisfying his own tastes. For example, he didn't like the color of his black Pentagon limousine. So he ordered the car painted blue at a cost to the taxpayers of $480.

WIRETAP DISCOVERED-- A wiretap discovered at the Virginia home of an Agriculture official, Charles Davenport, has triggered an intensive FBI investigation. Agents have already arrested one man, Jeris Bragan, for his alleged involvement in planting the device. Other arrests are expected.

HELICOPTER INVESTIGATION?-- We recently reported that hundreds of military helicopters, many of them perfectly airworthy, were being consigned to the scrap heap while police forces around the country were paying tens of thousands of dollars more than necessary for brand new choppers. The Federal Avaiation Administration, we charged, was playing bureaucratic games with local police to force them to buy new aircraft. Our story has stirred Rep. Bob Leggett, D— Calif., into demanding a congressional investigation. In a private letter to House Commerce Chairman Harley Staggers, Leggett has written: "A potential rip- off of domestic aviation is resulting from (the FAA's) restrictive actions...."

CORRECTION-- We reported the other day that Mrs. Pat Schroeder, the young housewife from Colorado, was the only woman serving on the House Armed Services Committee. We apologize to Rep. Marjorie Holt, R— Md., the committee's only grandmother, whom we overlooked.

POSTAL CRACKDOWN-- Postal authorities are cracking down on employes who don't like to work overtime. E.H. Rapee, who's in charge of the Washington City Post Office, has issued stern instructions to all his directors to double check medical excuses from employes who seek to be excused from mandatory overtime. "Employes submitting medical certificates for excuse from overtime are to be instructed to contact the Medical Unit for appointment so that evaluation of their condition may be made," writes Rapee, adding sternly: "This memorandum is not to be reproduced." We tried to contact Rapee about the memo, but a spokesman explained he was "out sick."

What's the law?

The case of the cagey teller

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Marvin was a true philosopher. He always knew what to do until it happened to him. For example, while making a deposit in a bank one fateful day, he was at a total loss when a gunman suddenly put a pistol to his head and warned the teller that unless he turned over $1,000 to him, forthwith, he would blow poor Marvin's brains out.

And when the cagey teller quickly ducked benind his bullet-proof cage, that's exactly what the gunman did. He pulled the trigger and dispatched luckless Marvin to greener banking facilities in the sky.

In due course, the executor of Marvin's estate sued the bank for Marvin's untimely departure.

"The teller had no right to try to be a hero," he complained in court. "When the gunman produced his pistol, the teller should have produced anything the gunman wanted."

"That's ridiculous," responded a bank official. "If we did that, we'd have more bank robbers than customers. Because Marvin got shot just isn't our fault. A bank, obviously, can't be held responsible for the criminal acts of a hold- up man. These days they come and go like it was in the ordinary course of business."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the bank pay up for Marvin's death?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a bank, while it is not an insurer of the safety of its customers, must use reasonable care for their protection and may not try to frustrate a criminal act in disregard of that duty. When it's a question of giving up its money or endangering the life of a patron, concluded the judge in effect, the bank, graciously or otherwise, must yield up its loot.

Eggs, oats taken in two break-ins

DUDLEY— Two chicken houses located on Route WW near Dudley were broken into Saturday night. Thieves took 2,000 eggs, 1,200 pounds of oats, a clock and several small hand tools. Entry was gained by prying the lock off the front door.

The chicken houses are owned by George Cates and Robert Stoner.

Investigation is continuing by the Stoddard County sheriff's department.

The Dudley Farm Service building was broken into Friday night or early Saturday morning. Stoddard County Sheriff Ralph Mouser said several lawnmowers had been moved to the rear door, but that the burglars apparently were scared away and nothing was missing. Entry was gained by forcing a lock on the front door.

Dudley Farm Service is owned by Sterling Guinn.

Readers sound out on Homos

Ann Landers: I refuse to call you "dear" because you are an empty headed, ignorant, meddling fool. For years I have read your column and believed you were a friend of homosexuals. A few days ago you turned on us like a jungle animal and exposed your hypocrisy and ignorance.

I am shocked and outraged that you would call us "sick" and describe homosexual activity as "unnatural." How dare you? We already have many psychiatrists on our side. Some excellent papers have been written on the subject. They have given us a clean bill of health. They say we are NOT sick. We are only different. Why is it that you haven't read those papers? I think you should be fired for incompetence.---Former Reader

Dear Former: I have read them, but I don't happen to agree with the authors. I am with the psychiatrists who believe homosexuals are sick and that sex between two men or two women is unnatural. I can listen to and respect opinions different from my own, however, without becoming angry, shocked, or outraged. Some highly reputable physicians are on the other side of this argument. Here is some samples of my mail:

From the British West Indies: Dear Ann Landers: May I congratulate you on your concise and perspicacious answer to a homosexual who signed himself, "One." Twenty-five years ago I was "one." also. After six years of in-depth analysis my life was changed completely. You are right when you say homosexuals are sick and their sex activity is unnatural. It is difficult to explain to a homosexual just how sick and unnatural it is. They refuse to believe it. But I know, because I've been there and back.---Forever Straight.

From Topeka, Kansas: Thank you for stating that homosexuality is an illness. I made the same statement on the Merv Griffin show not long ago and have had a great deal of angry mail because of it. You do a good job, Ann. Thank you.----Harold M. Voth, M.D., Menninger Foundation

Chicago, Illinois: I have worked with many homosexuals and, in my opinion, they are individuals whose emotional development was arrested at a preadolescent level. When a massive lack of development in the maturation process occurs in any area, it can be referred to as an illness in psychiatric terms.---Dr. Sara Charles, Assistant Professor Of Psychiatry, University Of Illinois.

From Houston, Texas: Homosexuality, in my opinion, is not normal or natural behavior. The original purpose of sexual activity was to perpetuate the species. Any deviation from the norm that threatens "the herd" cannot be considered normal or natural. Please do not use my name since I am not a specialist in this field. ---Heart Surgeon, Baylor University

From New York: I would not call homosexuality a "dysfunction" as you did in your column recently, because this means the inability to use sex organs adequately, which many homosexuals are able to do. Homosexuality, however, is a distortion of the choice of sex partner from the natural to the unnatural. This distortion comes from severe and early developmental problems caused by an inability to relate to significant adults. ---Natalie Shainess, M.D.

So there you have a small sampling, dear readers. And my thanks to all who wrote----even the angry and hostile readers. I appreciate all points of view, whether I agree with them or not.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, self-addressed envelope to this newspaper.

Smith-Edwards

Mrs. George Smith

Trinity Baptist Church was the setting for the candlelight wedding of Karen Edwards to George Smith. The double- ring ceremony was performed at 7:30 p.m. by the Rev. Charles W. Jones of Benton, Ark., cousin of the bride.

The new Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Edwards, 407 Edmondson, and Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith Sr. of Route One.

The couple exchanged vows before candelabras covered with greenery and candle trees placed on each side of the altar. The aisles were decorated with candles covered with greenery, pink and burgundy bows and streamers. After being pronounced man and wife, the bride presented the groom's mother with a long-stemmed red rose.

Miss Georgia Houchens, organist, played prenuptial music and accompanied Joel Allen as he sang, "More", "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face" and "The Lord's Prayer". She also played the Wedding March as she did for the bride's parents 25 years ago.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, presented her mother a long -stemmed red rose as she walked down the white-carpeted aisle. She wore a formal gown of white Granada lace with a high neckline encircled with a ruffle and long, bellowing sleeves of chiffon with the same lace ruffle at the wrist. The empire bodice was encircled with a ruffle edged with lace and white chiffon ribbon, ending with a tailored bow with long streamers.

Her A-line silhoutte skirt was softly gathered at the empire waistline and fell softly into a gentle sweep of gathers in the back with a deep ruffle at the bottom of the skirt edged with lace. Her headpiece was a chapel - length mantilla held secure with a contour cap of Chantilly lace and accented with king seed pearls.

The long veil was completely edged with scalloped Chantilly lace. Her only jewelry was a cameo pin belonging to her mother. She carried a bouquet of pink and burgundy rosebuds in the shape of a cross. Her dress was designed and made by a friend, Mrs. Dorothy Collier.

Miss Janet Myers served as maid of honor. She wore an empire- style dress with ruffled neckline and long, full sleeves gathered in ruffles at the wrist. The softly gathered skirt ended with a deep ruffle at the bottom of pale pink crepe and was accented with a velveteen burgundy bolero. She wore a pink velvet bow in her hair and carried a long-stemmed pink rose with pink and burgundy ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Pam Edwards, sister-in- law of the bride, and Mrs. Martha Allen. They wore dresses identical to the one worn by the maid of honor and each carried a long- stemmed red rose with pink and burgundy ribbons.

Candlelighters were Janie Smith, sister of the groom, and Mike Collier. Miss Smith wore a dress identical to those worn by the other attendants and a wrist corsage of pink carnations. Collier wore a burdungy tuxedo and pink ruffled shirt and black fly tie.

Susan Collier was flower girl. Her dress was fashioned after the dresses of the other attendants and she carried a white lace basket with pink carnations trimmed with pink and burgundy bows and streamers.

Ringbearer was William Smith, brother of the groom. He carried a white satin pillow with burgundy streamers and wore a burgundy plaid coat and burgundy slacks.

The groom chose Danny Sutton as best man. Groomsmen were Webb Edwards, brother of the bride, and Glenn Greene Jr. Ushers were Dennis McGarrity of Essex, brother-in- law of the groom, and Garry Vaught, All the men of the wedding party wore burgundy tuxedos with pink ruffled shirts and black fly ties.

The mother of the bride chose for her daughter's wedding a pink, velvet, A-line jumper with a long skirt and pink flowered chiffon blouse with high neckline and full sleeves ending with cuffs at the wrist. Her corsage was pink carnations accented with pink and burgundy bows.

The groom's mother wore a blue dress with long lace sleeves and fitted bodice trimmed with rhinestones and long A-line skirt. Her corsage was pink carnations accented with pink and burgundy bows.

Mrs. Sally Hodges of Wyatt was in charge of the guest book.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the blue and gold community room of the Security Federal Savings and Loan building. The bride's table was covered with pink net and bows. The four-tiered cake centered the table and was topped with a minature bride and groom. On both sides of the cake were silver candelabras. At one end was a silver coffee service with crystal punch bowl and at the other greenery.

Mrs. Vanessa McGarrity of Essex, sister of the groom, Miss Libby Whitworth, Miss Jami Ward and Miss Marie Eddleman of Perryville were servers.

Misses Mary Beth and Jill Meyer passed out rice bags.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents in the banquet room of the El Capri restaurant for the wedding party and close friends on Feb. 2.

After a short wedding trip, the couple now lives at Bertrand Route One. Smith is employed by Moore's Missouri Company.

Showers included those given by Mrs. Joel Allen and Miss Janet Myers on Jan. 12 as a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Suver; a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Dorothy Collier, Mrs. Pearl Hampton, Mrs. Libby Heuiser and Mrs. Edna Mulcahy on Jan. 26 at Trinity Baptist Church; and one given by Mrs. Dennis McGarrity at her home in Essex on Jan. 27.

How to dream with your eyes wide open.

Everybody likes to dream. But the chances of seeing a dream become reality are pretty slim. Unless you're crafty enough to figure out a smart way to save. One that's practical and painless. One that won't eat up your paycheck but will still give you a chance to salt something away.

If you're smart, you'll decide on U.S. Savings Bonds. They're one of the easiest ways to save. Just sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Then an amount you specify will be automatically set aside from your paycheck and used to buy Bonds.

So, if you're not satisfied with just dreaming, buy U.S. Savings Bonds. Then you'll find out there's no such thing as an impossible dream.

Now E Bonds pay 5½% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months 4% the first year. Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Mrs. Owenby speaker for Jr. Women

Birth control, abortion legalization and the changing role of the family in society were topics of discussion at the Feb. 26 meeting of Junior Woman's Club. Mrs. W.A. Owenby of Cape Girardeau, family life division chairman of the Missouri Federated Women's Clubs, was guest speaker.

Mrs. Owenby stressed the changes in family activities during the present adult generations. She emphasized the fact that fewer homemakers bake bread, fewer children walk to school and fewer families spend evenings together-- unless in front of a television set.

These, she said, are radical changes from her child hood and definite changes from the youthful days of her children who are now young parents themselves--- who buy factory- made bread, drive their children to school and absorb television each evening.

Announcement was made that the Big River Appaloosa Horse Club- Sikeston Junior Woman's Club co- sponsored horse show will be held April 28 at 10 a.m. at the Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo grounds in rural Sikeston. The event will last until evening.

Additional information will be released periodically until the show date, and those wishing information now may call any member of either club.

The Clines have week of crisis

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of articles giving a personal view of Jefferson City by Mrs. Kay Cline, wife of C. F. Cline, state representative for the 159th District.

By KAY CLINE

You will not believe what has happened to us during the past two weeks, but I will tell you anyway. I swear this really happened.

Our life of crisis began on Saturday morning, Feb. 17. I caught my kitchen in Sikeston on fire.

I was fixing breakfast and turned on the fire under a pan of grease. The delivery men from Lewis Furniture Company came with a small three-drawer chest. I let them in the door and the four of us proceeded to the bedroom where the chest was to be placed. (I forgot about the bacon grease.)

When I came back into the kitchen, the pan of grease, cabinets and stove's hood were afire. I started yelling "fire," and all three men came running very quickly into the kitchen.

C. F. took the throw rug and threw it over the pan. All three men worked very fast to put out the fire. I would like to give a big "thank you" to the delivery men who worked to help us.

After the fire was out, the fire department was called. They came over to make sure the fire was out and to look at the damages. C. F. contacted a contractor to take care of the smoke damage and the burned cabinets.

C. F. then returned to Jefferson City. After the legislators were dismissed for the day, he first went to check on the mobile home which we have rented (to take the place of our old apartment) and found that the hot water heater had burst. Water was all over the mobile home.

C. F. contacted the landlord and told him of the trouble. He said he would fix it and not to worry, that the mobile home would be fixed for us to move into when we had planned (this week).

From the mobile home, C. F. went to a committee meeting. When the meeting was over, he went to our old apartment, where he found he did not have any electricity. It had been turned off over the weekend. Everything in the refrigerator was ruined. He contacted the landlady at 11 p.m. to turn on the electricity.

On Sunday, Feb. 25, we came back early to move to our mobile home, only to find that the electricity and telephone at the mobile home had been turned off during the past week.

We could not move, so we decided we would make all the necessary arrangements on Monday morning. The telephone company told C. F. the men did not start work until 9 a.m. The service men came at 8:10 and I arrived at 8:30, thinking I would be at the mobile home on time.

I sat from 8:30 until 12 waiting for the service man (the one who had been there at 8:10 and left because he had found neither of us there).

I left at 12 to call the telephone company. They promised me faithfully the man would come out at 1. I went back and sat until 4 when he finally came to service the phone.

Needless to say, I have some feeling about the telephone company! It would appear to me that the service desk and the service men would get together and try to give better service to the public. The electric company was very cooperative and excellent with their service.

With the telephone company taking so long, we could not move from our apartment to the mobile home until C. F. finished his committee meetings, which ended at 9 p.m. We went to the apartment and found the electricity had been turned off again. We proceded to pack and move by flashlight. This was certainly a new experience for both of us.

I swear this is the truth. I could not possibly have made this up, and this is the reason why my column is two weeks' late. I would like to extend my apologies.

Oh, the joy of being married to a state representative.

Advance denied repeat

COLUMBIA, Mo--- Drouths are common place for Southeast Missouri and the first real big one of the year came Saturday night at the University of Missouri-Hearnes Multipurpose Center when the Advance Hornets, defending class S state basketball champions, suffered through two first half scoring drouths and failed in its bid to make history by falling to the event's cinderella team-Forsyth Panthers, 63-60.

Advance was bidding to become only the second team in Bootheel history to claim back to back state titles, moving alongside the illustrious 1951- 52 Puxico Indian teams, but couldn't fight off a persistent flu bug and a band of Ozark Hillbillies to accomplish the feat.

Although the AHS Hornets were shoo- in picks of the majority of the nearly 10,000 fans on hand, it was almost a foregone conclusion that something was bound to happen after the day long activity at the center was nearing its end.

Saturday was a record setting and upset day at the center. It all began shortly after 10:30 that morning when Mound City bowed to Westran 83- 71 in the class S consolation game, which was a mild surprise. Missouri University's John Brown followed a little after noon with a record setting pace that shattered the college's all- time scoring mark of Charlie Henke (1958- 61--- 1, 338), scoring 41 points in a 79- 73 victory over Oklahoma State to give the 6- foot- 8 Mizzou Blonde Bomber a career total of 1,357 points. Palmyra followed that pace with a 58-54 come- from- behind victory over Webb City for the class M third place prize behind the record setting pace of Ron Tyler who bettered the class M scoring mark with 23 points, for a week- long total of 127. He toppled John Brown's mark of 126 set in 1969.

Coach Carroll Cookson's cagers looked far from the impressive unit that had sped past three earlier opponents in the state tournament as they opened up the game against the FHS Panthers, who weren't even expected to claim their regional title at the School of the Ozarks.

Forsyth beat the devastating Advance press, stopped the Hornets fast break and worked over their zone and man to man defenses on the way to claiming the title.

Forsyth took a 2-0 lead with 7:10 left in the first quarter and trailed only twice, 8- 7 and 10- 8 with 3:28 left in the period, as the Panthers lived up to their cinderella role.

Advance managed only four points during the next nine minutes and 26 seconds as the drouth set in on the Hornets and Forsyth sped to a 29- 12 lead. The Hornets closed to 31- 20 at the half.

After a lengthy halftime discussion with coach Cookson, his AHS unit came out and played the second half like they had looked most of the season, but the damage had already been done and the Panthers had gained confidence.

The Hornets closed to within five points, 46- 41 at the end of three quarters and got within one point with 6:13 and 2:10 left in the game, but couldn't climb that final hill as their fouling and lack of rebounding told the story.

Reserve Day Reynolds, a 5- foot- 8 junior, came off the bench in the second half to aid in the Panthers ball handling against the press but turned out to be the key figure in the Forsyth triumph with his seven of eight showing from the free throw line. His accuracy late in the game kept the Hornets at bay.

But the big story for Forsyth was Gene Harmon, whose 27 points spearheaded the Hornets victory. The big 6- foot- 4 pivot worked over the Hornets generally tough inside defense with driving layups and tip- ins and rebound shots.

Forsyth finished the game with a 47.5 shooting percentage from the field and 73.6 mark from the free throw line while Advance posted a 42.3 mark from outcourt and a 66.7 figure from the charity stripe. The Hornets out- scored the Panthers 25- 19 from the field but took a 25- 10 beating at the free throw stripe for the defeat.

The flu had started in on Wills early in the week and he had passed it along to the guard combo of Darrell Croy and Kenny Emerson before the week was out. The play of the Hornets two guards has been the mainspring of their torrid team all season and the flu physically took it out of the generally speedy combo.

But Advance had done well to get to the finals as they battled the flu. They'll likely be back next season as they lose four starters, but return a talented junior varsity unit that produced a 21- 1 season mark and picked up a lot of experience during the week in reserve volls.

The night's basketball action ended with Lutheran South upsetting Kansas City Manual 76- 62, to round out the big day on basketball surprises in this college town.

Changes help win for Baker

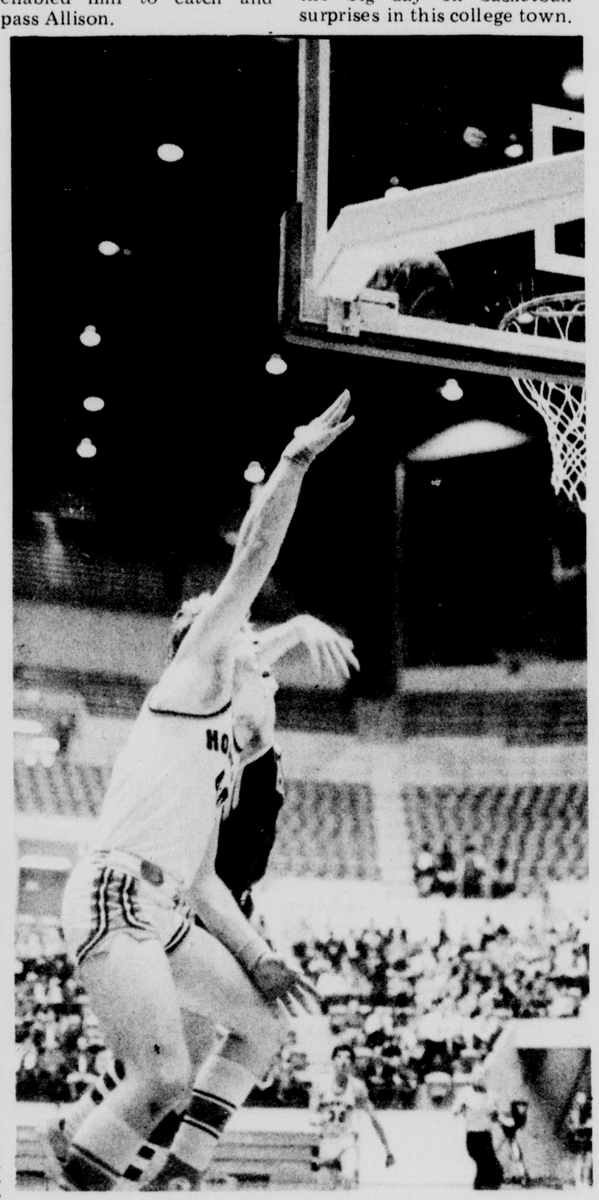

HICKORY, N.C. (AP)— Stock car driver Buddy Baker of Charlotte credits some midrace handling changes made on his 1973 Dodge with bringing him victory Sunday in the season- opener Grand National East 100-mile race at Hickory Speedway.

Baker and Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., swapped the lead four times and kept the crowd of 11,000 on its feet much of the first 143 laps of the 276- lap race.

Baker was three seconds behind when both cars pitted during a caution period. The Baker crew shifted some weight around in the car and that, Baker said, resulted in improved handling which enabled him to catch and pass Allison.

Forsyth's two leading scorers, Ricky Turner (45) and Gene Harmon (43), close in on Advance's John Rhodes (40), during the class S championship game Saturday night. Advance's bid for a repeat title was snuffed out by the surprising Panthers, 63- 60.

John Rhodes (40) was the big star this weekend for the Advance Hornets. The 6- foot- 3 senior was AHS's leading scorer with a total of 51 points, scoring 31 Friday and 20 Saturday.

State touney highlights

COLUMBIA, Mo.--- If going to the state tournaments are exciting, consider what it must be for a team to make it to the finals two years in a row. And so it was for the Advance Hornets.

The trip was a long one to make, but the players were not to be disappointed, for the usual big following that the Hornets always have was out for the big game Saturday night to give their support. The entire section reserved for Advance was filled before 5:30 for a game that was scheduled for 7:30. The Advance fans were easy to spot for most of them had spirit tags pinned on to let people know who they were for.

As the Hornets ran out for their warm- ups the crowd rose to their feet cheering and clapping. The cheerleaders started their yells during that time and the fans responded. Spirit was high throughout the crowd, ready for the game to begin.

In talking to some of the fans, one obvious point remained consistent--- pride. These people had been following the Hornets and they were proud to be making a return trip to the state finals with such a fine team.

Various comments by the students proved to show that everyone was up for the win, and despite the edge that Forshty had on the Hornets at halftime, not one person was down on the Advance team. Spirit ran through the crowd to help to try and carry the boys through to the win.

A student commented that not only were the players backed by the school itself, but by the whole town and that made the difference. Another stated that the adults were as much part of the spirit of the team as the kids themselves were.

The cheerleaders were given a great amount of credit also. Many fans commented on the outstanding job the girls did in supporting the Hornets. They were always in their pulling for the boys, never letting the spirit die.

Debbie Dunivan, captain of the Advance cheering squad, stated at half, "The Hornets have the ability to play good ball. Their teamwork is what has helped them to come this far."

Babette Morgan commented, "The most important thing about the Hornets is their ability to work together. These boys have played together since 6th grade, which has made them into such a strong team. They've just always known winning."

Even though the Advance Hornets failed to make it two years in a row for a state title, they are not to be forgotten. As one lady commented, "We'll be back next year."

John Brown (50) became the University of Missouri's all time leading scorer Saturday afternoon with his record setting pace of 41 points that gave him a career mark of 1,357 which bettered the 1,338 mark of Charlie Henke set in 1958- 61. Brown's 41 was a new career high for the 6- foot- 8 Mizzou athlete.

Females get Big 8 OK

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The University of Oklahoma has been reprimanded for holding a news conference on the signing of a student athlete and females are now eligible to compete in Big Eight Conference athletic competition.

This was part of the action taken during the winter sessions of the Big Eight faculty representatives, the league's governing body, which ended Saturday.

The faculty representatives reprimanded Oklahoma for arranging a news conference in Oklahoma City last July 22 to announce the signing of Alvan Adams, a freshman basketball star, who leads the conference in scoring. Adams played in the Sooners' first 21 games before he was sidelined with a fractured wrist.

Big Eight Commissioner Charles M. Neinas said in announcing the action that the Adams news conference was attended by John MacLeod, head basketball coach at Oklahoma, and John Keith, the school's sports information director, and that the conference was held with knowledge of Athletic Director Wade Walker.

Adams is from Putnam City, ,Okla. The conference action involved only a reprimand and no penalty, Neinas said.

The faculty representatives deleted the word "male" from the elibility rules, and Neinas said girls may now compete "if the girl meets the other requirements." He added whether a girl could go out for football would be "up to the institution."

Another year of football eligibility was granted under the hardship rule to three Nebraska players, I-back Ton Davis and defensive backs Chuck Jones and James Seeton, all of whom will be sophomores next season. All three were injured early in the 1972 season and played only briefly in one game.

The conference increased from four to five the number of games freshmen teams can play but not more than two away from home. It rejected a proposal to increase travel squads from 50 to 55 players in all games.

The dates for Kansas-Kansas State basketball games were changed from Tuesday nights to Wednesday nights. Games between the two schools are televised statewide. Neinas said the shift was made because Tuesday nights are traditionally a high school basketball night in the state of Kansas. Kansas will play Kansas State at Manhattan Feb. 13 and at Lawrence March 6 next season.

The conference voted to abolish the Big Eight letter-of-intent in sports other than football. This move was made, Neinas said, because it is anticipated that the national letter-of-intent for all sports will be earlier each year and that the national letter "takes precedent over all others anyway."

Golfer Don Bliss of Oklahoma State, who had been declared ineligible because he played with a professional in a pro- amateur tournament, was granted an eligibility exception and can now compete for the Cowboys. The conference also agreed that only institutional certification is necessary for athletes to compete in domestic invitational and open events and said athletic directors agreed to a self-imposed commitment not to increase their present full-time football coaching staffs.

Steeplechase was added to the outdoor track and field championships, effective this year. END ADVANCE

John Brown sets record

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Missouri University's blonde bomber, John Brown, went on a record setting spree Saturday afternoon in leading the Tigers to a 79-73 decision over Oklahoma State.

The former Dixon, Mo., prep star shattered the all time individual scoring mark of 1,338 set by Charlie Henke in 1958- 61 with a 41 point performance Saturday to give him a career high of 1,357. Missouri has two regular season games left on its schedule this week.

Brown looked at his performance and his record modestly, saying, "It's a little easier for me to score than it was in Charlie Henke's time. His game was a little slower. We have the 30- second clock now. The pace is much faster."

Later Saturday evening, Brown's high school mark of 126 points in four state tournament games, was cracked by Palmyra's 6-foot- 4 senior, Ron Tyler when he scored 23 points to lead PHS to thirdplace in the class Mtournament.

That gave Tyler a total of 127 points for the tournament, breaking by one the record set by Brown in 1969.

Impasse in strike

WICKLIFFE, Ky. — Negotiations in the strike of the United Paperworkers International Local 680 of the Westvaco facilities at Wickliffe remained at an impasse Friday after an attempt Thursday by federal mediators to meet with both sides apparently failed.

Richard Deem of the federal mediation and conciliation agency said his office had planned no further meetings with union officials or management.

The talks which were held Thursday in a Sikeston motel apparently broke down in the early stages.

Following the meeting, Roy L. Sharp. manager of the Wickliffe facilities for Westvaco, issued a statement which in part said,

"We are surprised that the negotiating committee of Local 680 has taken such an unyielding position without benefit of submitting the company's proposal to the union membership for a secret vote."

International negotiator Don Wilkes, contacted at his home near Louisville, Ky., would not comment on the terms which the union presented during the meeting Thursday.

Local 680 president Lloyd Walter was not available for comment.

Production at the fine papers mill of the company ceased the night of Feb. 10, after an offer of an increase of 6.25,6.25 and 6.5 per cent over a three- year period by the company was rejected by union negotiators.

This is the first contract to be negotiated at the new plant which has been in production for about two years.

3 arrested

EAST PRAIRIE— Three arrests were reported by police over the weekend.

Jap Matthews was sentenced to 30 days in jail on a charge of public intoxication this morning in City Court. The same charge brought a $30 fine to Earnest Easley. Tommy Mansfield, arrested for peace disturbance, remains in custody.

Longest City

Honolulu, the state capital of Hawaii, is the world's longest city, stretching 1,367 miles southeast to northwest, encompassing a dozen islands and lying across two time zones.

Missouri losing business to right to work states

State Rep. Vic Downing of Bragg City today released to members of the House Labor Committee the results of a mail survey he conducted recently with 118 members of the Southern Industrial Development Council in 10 right to work states which compete directly and indirectly with Missouri for new industry. Responses were received from 71.

The industrial development experts pointed to the existence of right to work laws as a major reason the 19 Right to Work states attracted 1,362,000 new jobs from 1960- 70, compared to a combined total of 1,260,000 in the 31 states where compulsory unionism is permitted.

Said one man from Mississippi, which gained 66,000 new manufacturing jobs compared to Missouri's 51,000, "right to work is probably our number one selling point to new industrial prospects."

Said another from Georgia, "Our section of the country is presently being overrun with industrial prospects from the north. One of the main reasons, they tell us, is because we are a right to work state."

Rep. Downing called the responses "compelling and indisputable evidence that a state which puts right to work legislation to work protecting its working people also puts the law to work building a stronger economy."

Gene Mittelberg, executive vice president of Missourians for Right to Work, the citizens group which has been pressing for a state right to work law, called attention to several recent cases in which Missouri towns lost new industrial prospects to neighboring areas in right to work states. "While right to work remains first and foremost a matter of individual rights," he said, "it is all too evident that small and large businessmen alike have paid heed to AFL-CIO President George Meany when he stated that disputes over compulsory unionism are a 'frequent cause' of industrial strife."

Mittelberg quoted two recent letters sent to his organization by Missouri citizens concerned with the abuse of forced union membership.

Gary L. Swanson of Savannah, president of the Chamber of Commerce, wrote in a letter to Labor Committee Chairman Rep. Earl Schlef (D) Dellwood that his town "recently lost one of our best prospective new businesses. We lost a business to our community that would have hired 100 to 150 people. This company's representative told me that they elected to go to a town just over the border in Kansas because of their right to work legislation.

"Missouri is in the right geographical location at a good economic time. We need all the legislative assistance that we can get to remain economically competitive," he said.

Stephan M. Feran, executive vice president of the Greater Poplar Bluff Chamber of Commerce repeated a similar story. Just recently, he said, a major industrial prospect who was seriously considering Poplar Bluff as the location for a new plant decided instead to locate in nearby Arkansas. "This location is not far from Poplar Bluff, and the determining factor seemed to be that Arkansas is a right to work state."

Similar incidents have been reported in other areas of Missouri as well.

Proponents of the Missouri Right to Work law, including many union members and former members, young and old, will testify before the House Labor Committee in the House Chamber tonight starting at 8 o'clock. More than two dozen witnesses from across the state are expected to appear.

A SIX LANE BRIDGE

ROME (AP) — The Italian government is planning to build the world's longest suspension bridge across the Strait of Messina to Sicily. It will be 9,000 feet long, take five to eight years to complete and include a six-lane highway.

The bridge will have four massive towers, each 100 to 650 feet taller than New York's Empire State building.

Dollar rises

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. dollar improved sharply in bank-to-bank dealings today as European foreign exchanges remained shut for the second day while monetary experts sought ways of forestalling a renewal of speculation.

Dealers said the dollar's improvement apparently came from some profit taking by speculators who unloaded more than $15 billion during the past two weeks to buy stronger currencies.

Experts doubted that the improvement would last.

As the dollar moved up, the British pound slumped, and the price of gold declined.

Foreign money exchanges closed

BRUSSELS (AP) — The foreign exchange markets of the nine Common Market members will be closed all this week as the world's richest countries prepare for more talks later this week, seeking a solution to the dollar crisis.

The Common Market's finance ministers met Sunday at their headquarters in Brussels and decided to extend the market closing they had ordered last Thursday night. But they failed to agree on a joint program to protect their currencies.

The ministers said they would meet again Thursday in Brussels. They announced another conference for Paris on Friday to which the United States, Japan and other major trading nations would be invited. And the nine said they would meet again in Brussels next Sunday.

The U.S. Treasury said that it wants to cooperate with the other major trading nations in solving the monetary crisis. But it stopped short of promising to participate in the conference Friday.

Japan joined the European countries in closing its foreign exchange market for the week. The halt to official trading takes the pressure off the state banks, which last week spent billions to keep the U.S. dollar from falling below its floor.

The dollar was devalued 10 per cent on Feb. 12. Closing the exchanges means there will not be any agency enforcing a fixed set of exchange rates during the week's trading on private money markets.

The Common Market finance ministers said the assault on the dollar "was due to a distrust of speculative origin" and was not justified by the official exchange rates.

Valery Giscard D'Estaing, the French finance minister, told newsmen the Euopean governments were "eager to defend the present set of parities.... We do not want to let the European currencies float upward as this would affect our competitiveness."

Other informants said there had been sentiment among the ministers for a float. But they could not agree whether their currencies should float individually or be fixed against each other and float jointly against the dollar.

Defense Secretary claims no funds to aid North Viets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson said today there are no "pockets of fat" in the defense budget to pay for postwar reconstruction of North Vietnam.

Richardson said, however, it may be possible to come up with the funds if the cease-fire is fully adhered to by North and South Vietnam.

In that case, he said, some of the $2.9 billion programmed for Southeast Asia in the 1974 fiscal budget could be used for postwar aid.

The secretary denied that he was at odds with President Nixon, who said Friday that postwar aid to the North, if approved by Congress, would come from existing defense and foreign-aid funds.

The President was saying the money can be provided but was not suggesting that funds in the Pentagon budget were already programmed for postwar aid, Richardson told a news conference.

Richardson said another possibility would be that if Congress cut the over-all $79-billion fiscal 1974 defense budget, the cuts could be reprogrammed for aid to the North.

But as it stands now, Richardson said, the new budget is austere with little room for trimming.

"I have not been able to find any pockets of fat ... There aren't any," he told reporters.

The House continues hearings on a 27-page bill and the Senate is expected to begin floor debate on its 160-page bill, which started out at 540 pages.

The major differrnce in the two versions is that the House bill merely outlines transfers and the Senate bill changes the laws on most of the state's 90 agencies in the executive branch. Under the House bill, the revisions could come later.

Government reorganization, to be effective July 1, 1974, will consolidate state government under 13 departments.

Among the first Senate passed bills ready for House action is a measure calling for a zero-based budget from all departments. The zero-based budgeting concept takes the approach that each agency will come to the annual budget hearings with no money and must justify everything it gets.

The governor's staff favors a program budgeting method, contending the zero method doesn't give any guide as to where to allocate resources.

Another tug-of-war was developing between the Senate and the governor's office over an appointment to the University of Missouri Board of Curators.

Support lacking for Arab guerrillas

BEIRUT (AP) — The Arab world, as reflected in its press, displayed a marked lack of support today for the Black September guerrillas who seized the Saudi Arabian Embassy in Khartoum and killed two American diplomats and one Belgian.

Government-controlled radios and newspapers in Libya, Syria and Iraq continued to withhold comment. In the past, they have been quick to hail Black September operations.

Egyptian newspapers all sought to blame Palestinian guerrilla violence on continued American military support of Israel but there was no openly expressed support for the Khartoum slayings.

Arab World, a respected digest and analysis of Arab affairs said "The Khartoum operation has sealed the fate of the guerrilla leaders (who) the Black Septemberists tried to save in Jordan."

King Hussein of Jordan Sunday night approved death sentences for the 20 Palestinian guerrillas, including guerrilla leader Mohammed Daoud Odeh, charged with plotting to kidnap Jordan's Prime Minister Ahmed Lozi and overthrow the monarchy.

The Black Septembrists, who surrendered Sunday after a 60-hour siege of the embassy, called themselves "The Abu Daoud Squad" and made Daoud's release their No. 1 demand.

Most Beirut newspapers expected the guerrilla presence in Sudan to be sharply restricted.

3 way race for mayor

PORTAGEVILLE — Three-way races for the office of mayor and ward one alderman in the April 3 city election developed before the filing deadline at midnight Saturday.

Jimmy D. Foster and former mayor Barry Richardson filed Friday afternoon to oppose Mrs. Helen Thompson for the mayor's post. Mayor Roy Moore is not seeking re-election after serving one term.

Preston Shaw declared his candidacy for ward one alderman, opposing Benny Goodman and Albert (Bud) Sisson. The post is being vacated Lewis Hoxworth.

Ward two alderman Don Rone is opposed for re-election by Bill Brown. W. D. boon withdrew Friday from the race.

In contests for other offices, Delbert Richardson is opposing Margaret DeRousse Phillips for collector; Police Chief Joe Moore is opposed for re- election by Jack Young; and Taylor Noles Sr. is opposed for a one- year unexpired term for police judge by Joe Holland.

Hmmm, very interesting!

Recognizing numbers is a puzzling experience for these four youngsters during a morning session at the Airport Kindergarten. Children from left, are Chris LeGrand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil LeGrand; Jay Kage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kage; Janesa Pittman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Pittman; and Donna Pollard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pollard, all of Sikeston. Their teacher, Nancy Williams, shows them how to match the numbers to the appropriate illustrations. (Daily Standard Photo)

V C release 34 more prisoners

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — The Viet Cong released 34 more prisoners of war in Hanoi today, including the only foreign woman held by the Communists, and a U.S. Air Force hospital plane brought them to Clark Air Base for a presidential welcome.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos was on hand because two Filipino employes of the Voice of America were among those freed, along with 27 American military men, three American civilians and two West German medical workers.

One of the Germans was nurse Monika Schwinn, 30, who was captured near Da Nang April 27, 1969.

It was the second prisoner release in two days. On Sunday, the North Vietnamese freed 106 Americans and two Thais in Hanoi.

First off the plane today was the ranking American military member of the group, Army Capt. Stephen R. Leopold, 28, of Milwaukee, Wis.

"My God, you don't know how good it is to be free, how good it is to be home," he said in a brief speech.

The POWs were dressed in the same gray shirts and dark slacks that other prisoners who have returned from Hanoi have worn.

All but one of the American military men smartly saluted the American flag before stepping down the ramp to be greeted by Marcos, Adm. Noel Gayler, commander in chief of U.S. forces in the Pacific; U.S. Ambassador Henry A Byroade, and the commander of the 13th Air Force, Lt. Gen. William G. Moore Jr.

Marine Sgt. Frank E. Cius Jr., 36, who was captured June 3, 1967, saluted Gayler as he stepped down but not the colors. He was the only POW to be released so far for whom the military has not announced a home town. They said this was done at the request of his family.

Also on the flight were five members of the armed forces radio television network captured in Hue during the Tet offensive on Feb. 3, 1968.

They were Marine Capt. James V. Dibernardo, 38, of Mission Viejo, Calif., commander of the unit, Army Spec. 5 Jose M. Astorga, 22, of San Diego, Calif.; Army S.Sgt. John A. Deering, 30, of Durham, N.C., Army S.Sgt. Harry L. Ettmueller, 29, of Pleasantville, N.J., and M.Sgt. Donat Joseph Gouin, 44, of Lima, Ohio.

The three American civilians were Clodeon Adkins, 57, of Homeland, Calif., Michael Dennis Benge, 37, of Heppner, Ore. and Lawrence J. Stark, 37, of Chicago, Ill. All were captured during the Tet offensive in 1968.

Miss Schwinn, who was working for the Maltese Aid Service Mission when she was captured, managed a brief smile as she stepped into the glare of the television lights.

Hearing set tonight

'Right to work' on agenda

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A bill to forbid mandatory union membership in Missouri helps kick off the legislature's third month of the 76th general session.

The so-called "right to work" bill will be heard by the House Labor Committee tonight after both houses convene at 4 p.m.

The right-to-work measuge aroused emotion before its first committee hearing, with the sponsor accusing the labor committee chairman of being hostile to the bill.

The right-to-work sponsor, Rep. Vic Downing, D-Bragg City, charged during the weekend that Rep. Earl Schlef, D-Dellwood, the House Labor Committee chairman, had remarked that the measure "is as good as dead" before it was heard in committee.

Those in favor of the bill will be heard tonight. Opponents will be heard next week. If passed, the bill would prohibit the closed union shop in Missouri.

Committee action is expected to taper off somewhat this week as flour action increases. The House will continue double sessions and the Senate is expected to add an afternoon session on Tuesday or Wednesday.

The flow of new legislation was shut off Thursday after 1,200 new bills and resolutions had been filed.

Controversial issues coming up for debate this week on the floor in both houses are bills to reinstate the death penalty. The House bill has a clause saying that if the U.S. Supreme Court declares one section of the bill to be unconstitutional, the rest of it would stand.

Government reorganization will take up lawmakers' time this week.

2 stabbed at Haywood City

BENTON — Two men were stabbed Sunday morning in Hamilton Cafe in Haywood City, but the stabbings were not connected, according to Scott County Sheriff John Dennis.

Milton Moore of haywood City was taken to the emergency room at the Missouri Delta Community Hospital after he received knife wounds behind his left ear and his left side between his lung and kidney.

Moore told authorities that a man had fallen asleep on a table in the cafe and when Moore tried to wake him up, the man, who had reportedly been drinking, jumped up and started stabbing Moore.

George Rule of Sikeston Route Four was taken to the emergency room after he was beaten up by two men outside the cafe. Rule told authorities the two men stomped him but he didn't know he had been stabbed. He said he did not know the men.

He received cuts in his head and a knife wound on his back, between the shoulder blades.

A color television stolen from the El Capri Motel the last of January was recovered Friday afternoon after the Sheriff's department received a telephone call from someone, stating they knew where a stolen television was.

The television was recovered in the home of Joe James Jr., 20, in Miner. James was arrested in a home in Morehouse Saturday, hiding under the bed.

Also arrested Saturday in connection with the stolen television were Robert Lee Horton, 23, of Sikeston and Bobby Palmer, 23.

James was released on $1,000 bond. The other two men are still in custody.

The Sheriff's department investigated.

Council to consider annexation

The City Council will consider the annexation of 1,500 acres of land when it meets tonight at 7:30 in the City Administrative Building.

Tracts of land to be considered include 1,200 acres north of the Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo grounds and east to Interstate 55, the LaValle property southwest of Sikeston along Highway 60 and the Cummins Diesel property on the southern edge of the city near Highway 60.

The land was recommended for annexation by the city planning and zoning commission.

The largest expense in adding the property to the city will be the cost of extending city utilities to the annexed areas.

Also on the agenda is an ordinance authorizing the city to pay for the refurbishing of the Jaycee swimming pool. The estimated cost is around $60,000.

In molestation case

Man held for investigation

NEW MADRID — Ozel Schumate, 45, who is under three - year probation on a robbery conviction, is being held for investigation of suspected child molestation.

Shumate was among four men charged with kidnaping, rape and robbery of a young couple near Kewanee in March 1971.

According to police, two young brothers, ages 9 and 11, and Shumate were in a laundrymat on Powell Street about 9 p.m. Sunday. The older boy first left the laundrymat to walk home, expecting his brother to follow soon. When the younger boy failed to arrive home, police were notified. About 2:30 a.m., the boy was seen walking on Mott Street by policeman Russell Cobb.

The boy told police he had gone to Shumate's house on Capitol Street to clean his bathroom after Shumate had offered him $2. After entering the house, Shumate, who was reportedly drinking, locked the door and allegedly molested the youth. The boy told police he was released shortly before officer Cobb had seen him.

Two younger men, Carl Shumate Jr. and Robert Schollmeyer, are serving 15 year terms for rape and robbery. Kidnaping charges were dropped against them.

Ozell Shumate and his brother, Carl Shumate Sr., were convicted on robbery charges in September 1971 and placed on probation. Rape and kidnaping charges against them were dismissed.

Madrid jail contract signed

NEW MADRID — New Madrid County Court this morning signed a $47,000 contract with Dien Construction Co. of Dexter for operations, alterations and improvements of the county jail.

Specifications call for most of the work to be on the upper story of the structure and will improve it to exceed minimum standards for penal institutions. The jail was built in 1914 at a cost of $16,500.

The improvements are being financed by a $12,500 grant from the Bootheel Law Enforcement Assistance Council, a $25,000 federal grant and the balance by county general revenue.

Other bids were received from Boyer Construction Co. of Sikeston for $57,800 and Jackson Excavation Co. of Jackson for $56,013.

Fire damages restaurant

EAST PRAIRIE— A fire, believed to have started from faulty wiring, damaged the Southern Kitchen restaurant on North Washington Drive about 4:45 p.m. Sunday.

The restaurant, operated by Linda Bisher, will be closed for a few days for repairs due to smoke damage.

The building is owned by M.C. Brewer.

Car stolen

John Ward Jr. of Route Three, Box 78, reported to police that his 1972 yellow Maverick was stolen from the parking lot of the bus station on South Main Street sometime between Thursday and Sunday.

2 arrested on weapons charges

Two men were arrested early Sunday morning after allegedly threatening to kill two men Saturday night at Russell's Bull Dog Inn on East Malone Avenue, according to police.

Jimmy Dale Ray, 24, of 1618 Matthews was charged with displaying a dangerous and deadly weapon, and Thomas Lee Brasenell, 25, of 320 Missouri was charged with discharging a firearm in the city limits and displaying a dangerous and deadly weapon.

They were amont 16 persons arrested over the weekend, including three Kansas City youths, who police say were caught breaking into vending machines at the MFA service station on East Malone Ave.

Ray and Brasenell were allegedly sitting in a car parked next to the Bull Dog Inn about 11:30 p.m. Saturday and ordered Lanny Lee of Charleston to go into the restaurant and tell a man they were going to kill him. Police did not identify the intended victim.

The two allegedly told Lee that if he did not deliver the message they would kill him, also.

As Lee started toward the restaurant, Brasenell allegedly stepped out of the car and fired a 16- gauge shotgun into the air. The owner of the Bull Dog Inn, Mrs. Cliff Russell, heard the shot and called police.

When police arrived the two men had already left. Police said Mrs. Russell and a waitress knew who the two men were but refused to say anything.

Police officers Walter Wilson and Ronald Lanford decided to wait in the shadows behind the restaurant to see if Ray and Brasenell would return. Shortly after midnight, they did return and were arrested.

Police were holding Anthony Earl Brown, 18, Charles George Hixon, 18, and a juvenile, all of Kansas City this morning for allegedly breaking into a cigarette machine at the MFA Service Station, 942 E. Malone.

Police saw the three drive out of the service station about 12:18 a.m. today and, at the same time, noticed the cigarette machine had been broken open.

Policemen Marshall Moore and Jack Patterson pulled the car over and took

8 hurt on SeMo highways

Eight persons were injured in six area traffic accidents over the weekend, according to the highway patrol.

Kevin Dwight Branum, 20, of Cape Girardeau received internal injuries at 9:15 a.m. Saturday when the driver of the car in which he was riding fell asleep at the wheel and ran his car off the orad. The accident occurred 13 miles east of Silva on Highway 34.

Branum was taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau. The driver, Thomas Micheal Ezell, was not injured.

Three persons were injured Sunday in an accident at 7 p.m. on Interstate 55 one- half mile south of Cape Girardeau.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Roy Henry Forster, 53, of St. Louis ran off the road on the wrong side, tore out a guard rail and plunged down an embankment.

Forster suffered head cuts and possible leg and back injuries. His wife, Wilma Forster, 40, of St. Louis, received face and arm cuts and another passenger, Clarence Edward Brown, 49, of Jonesboro, Ark., suffered a nose and face injury. They were all taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital.

Helen Rogers, 64, of Fredericktown received chest injuries when the car in which she was riding ran off the road on the wrong side and struck a dirt embankment. The accident happened at 12:25 p.m. Sunday two miles south of Fredericktown on Highway 67.

The driver of the car John William Rogers, 66, of Fredericktown was not injured.

A pedestrian was injured in an accident at 6:35 p.m. Sunday on Route EE six miles west of Chaffee.

Grady Whorton, 43, of Springdale, Ill., received scratches and bruises when he was struck by a pickup truck driven by Glendon Chandler, 44, of Whitewater. The patrol said Whorton was apparently intoxicated and staggered into the path of the truck. He was taken to Chaffee General Hospital.

Two cars collided at 4:30 p.m. Sunday on Route E two miles east of Cooter. The accident occurred when a car driven by Fonzy Real, 70, of Steele made a left turn in front of a car driven by Brigham Nip, 59, of Dyersberg, Tenn. The Nip auto struck the Real auto in the right front.

Nip's wife, Sharlotte, 62, received a broken wrist and was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

Edward Stowell, 26, of Morris Chapel, Tenn., received cuts to his buttocks at 6:15 a.m. today when his tractor- trailer truck ran off the road into a rock embankment on Interstate 55 two miles south of Perryville. He was taken to Perry County Hospital in Perryville.

PROMISES NOT FULFILLED

At ten o'clock on Friday night, February 2, 1973, Washington, D.C. Police and the FBI arrested a self-styled "revolutionary" and put him in jail. At the time of arrest the prisoner was carrying a sawed-off .303 rifle -- the same gun which, it is known, was used to murder at least four innocent victims since the first of the year. All had been slaughtered in cold blood. Robbery was not the motive, but hate.

There is another part to the story, but it, too is not unusual. The self- same suspect had been arrested less than two months before, charged with several minor offenses, fined $205 and released after being held less than 20 hours in a detention center.

At the time of his first arrest, the suspect, who was standing outside of his automobile made a sudden lunge toward the car, but he was halted when the police drew their guns and ordered him to stop.

Reaching in the car, one of the policemen picked up a snub-nosed, .38 caliber revolver from the floor of the car in front of the driver's seat. The suspect did not have a Washington permit to carry a gun. The gun law carries stiff penalties. But the suspect was not charged with this crime.

Why?

Because the arresting police picked the gun up off the floor of the car without a search warrant.

One of the campaign promises made by President Nixon, when he was running for office five years ago, was that he would correct the inbalance in law which protects criminals at the expense of the innocent.

It is perfectly clear that the legal mess left by the ultra-liberal Warren court is still costing the lives of law-abiding citizens, while criminals are allowed to roam at will, because of court - created loopholes in the law.

This is one campaign promise that has yet to be fulfilled. Let us hope that Mr. Nixon will get around to it, and quickly.

If you run across a man who is cross and surly, despite the fact that you greet him civilly, it is usually a sign that somebody got the best of him. But he probably was not cross to the person who got the best of him: he is cross to his friends, who are good natured and polite.

* * *

A Sikeston man was popular because he always defended people behind their backs. When people get together, they are apt to talk about their best friends, first seeing that no kin of those attacked are present. This man always mildly defended those talked about, if they were worthy of defense, and they usually were. Then those who began the assault agreed that it was a shame to abuse good people. You can always stop bad talk of any kind, if you want to. People are ashamed when they act unfairly.

THE MISSOURI PRESS AND RIGHT TO WORK

St. Louis Globe Democrat -- "Right to Work laws are not anti- labor but pro- worker. They give the worker the rights guaranteed him in the First, Fifth and Ninth Amendments to the Constitution -- the rights of speech, privacy, association and choice. They balance the right to join with the right not to join. No person should be required to belong and pay money to a private organization in order to earn a living . . . The House Labor Committee must, in fairness to all workingmen, report the Right to Work bill out of committee. Then it should be passed by the House and the Senate, "February 19, 1973.

Nevada Herald -- "Right to Work does not interfere in any way with legitimate union activity. It does not restrict the right of employes to organize and bargain collectively . . . Rather, the only question posed by the Right to Work principle is whether an American citizen can be compelled to join and make financial contributions to any organization -- church, labor union, lodge or civic club -- in order to get or hold a job, "February 18, 1973.

Cape Girardeau Southeast Missourian -- "Along with the right to join a union is an equal right -- the right not to join as a condition of employment. This right is as essential, and as equitable, as the right to belong to a union. A worker should have the right to union membership or to refrain from union membership as he wishes . . . The Missourian is of the opinion the Right to Work bill is a good one and should be adopted by the legislature," February 21, 1973.

Columbia Daily Tribune -- "A union can be an important, worthwhile organization in the eyes of a worker. If he thinks it is he should be utterly free to join without any pressure to the contrary. But unless he really feels he is getting positive help from the organization, he should not be compelled to join . . . We think this is legitimate legislation and should be passed," February 21, 1973.

Fulton Kingdom Daily News -- "Personal freedom continues to be a disappearing commodity, and while many times we lay the blame on government, there are other factors that are whittling away the freedom of the individual in America. One of those factors is compulsory unionism," February 19, 1973.

Rock Port Mail -- "Compulsory union membership is the source of union officials' excessive political and economic power. It is the real root of most of the corruption in labor unions today. . . . Right to Work simply means that an individual has the right to join a union, and a corollary right to refrain from joining a union without losing his job. Right to Work Guarantees a Free Choice," January 25, 1973.

Kirksville Express & News -- "More and more people are asking the question of how the cause of liberty and civil rights can be anything more than an empty phrase as long as the tyranny of union compulsion is ignored," February 20, 1973.

Jefferson City News Tribune -- "Although many rank and file union members are for a Right to Work law, many union officials oppose it. A few irresponsible union officials want compulsory membership because they don't want their members to have the right to quit their union, regardless of how their leaders behave. Some union officials are against the proposal simply because they are too lazy to build an effective union to stand on its own merit. Some union organizers claim unions would crumble without compulsory membership. This is pure bunk and they know it. This simply has not happened in states with Right to Work laws that ban compulsory union membership. If a union is effective and provides the kind of leadership wanted, employes will want to join," March 1, 1973.

* * *

Up until now, researchers, policy makers and drug educators have worked from the premise that a child's level of information and the pressures from his peers and ethnic group were the key factors causing the continuing advance of drug use. But recent research indicates that a child's drug conduct can be predicted with very high accuracy merely by examining the family from which he comes. This new concept doesn't junk the old factors, it just puts them in second place.

The old factors led us to believe that the only hope in drug education was in the schools. Their failure is not their blame. The socio-psychological forces which produce the present patterns of children's drug use are such that any school intervention is not likely to have a remarkable impact. It is the business of the schools to cultivate minds which inquire and question authority. Teachers can and should demonstrate conformity to laws and community standards, but they can't teach it.

For the most part, the family is to blame, but it can't be coerced or punished. It must be taught, and not with textbooks. PTA's, churches, unions, community centers and other such institutions will be the forums where people can learn the business of communication and becoming good parents.

The task will be difficult, but the possibilities are astronomical. The drug issue has gotten us to our feet; and it's a good reason to start moving. The ill health of the American family is the source of more than just the drug problem.

TECHNOLOGICAL TURNAROUND

A release from a southern power company illustrates the positive new trend that is gradually gaining momentum in the environmental battle-- a trend that reflects the necessity of finding ways to turn environmental problems into environmental assets.

According to a release from the electric company, the fly ash from the company's stacks, instead of escaping into the atmosphere to create pollution, is now to be captured and put to productive use. In the words of the release, "Very shortly, the bricks you use in building your home barbecue pit may have had part of their origin at a...power company steam-electric generating plant. The same may be said for the concrete blocks used in building homes, fertilizer for those home- grown tomatoes, and for the asphalt and concrete paving in front of your home." The release announced the company's plan to develop facilities at its power plant sites to collect the fly ash and process it into a valuable substance.

Another bane in the life of the environmentalist has been so- called "thermal pollution" or warm water discharges from power plants. This warm water is also being turned into an asset rather than a liability. It is said to increase agricultural yields in Oregon's Willamette Valley, and experiments have shown that it speeds the growth of food fish and aids in the production of clams, shrimp and oysters.

Solving problems of environmental pollution by breakthrough in technology could well open the way to unprecedented progress and a better life. Thus, science offers hope in place of the philosophy of despair that seems to prevail among dead-end environmentalists.

PROVEN IN THE MARKETPLACE

High- powered advertising and promotion that reaches a point of excess that offends rather than informs is condemned as heartily by business as it is by consumers. But, this type of business-getting practice is far less prevalent than most people realize and should not be permitted to obscure the legitimate function of promotion and advertising.

Mr. Samuel S. Talbert in the Department of Journalism at the University of Mississippi tells of the results of a study that indicates the manner in which advertising aids the shopper. From advertising, consumers "...can tell about such things as the store's size, its appearance and displays, efficiency of operation, trustworthiness." Through advertising, the consumer can make judgments on courtesy, the nature of customers and salesmen, the quality of merchandise, and the style of goods sold-- information that can help the consumer select the type of store which is suited to her taste and her financial status.

In other words, advertising is an important feature of the free market system. It would be rejected by the self- policing mechanism of the system if it served no useful economic function. The same is true of promotional practices which merchants use to build volume sales. One of the most popular of these is the trading stamp which for years, in common with other forms of promotion and advertising, has been subjected to punitive legislative proposals. These proposals never get anywhere, because they rest on false economic premises, and consumers have the wisdom to know it.

Time after time, trading stamps have been singled out for special criticism and attack. Yet, time after time, impartial studies have shown that they have little or no effect on prices, that they are favored by consumers and that they, like advertising, are an economically sound feature of the marketplace. They have a proven capacity to stimulate high- volume sales, and it is high volume that builds mass distribution of goods at minimum prices.

AN OLD STORY

Mrs. Butler: "Did you meet your son at the station?"

Mrs. Wilkins: "Oh goodness no! I've known him for years."

H. L. Hunt

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Prosecutors in various states have asked for public support in their efforts to reinstate capital punishment as a primary weapon in combatting the problem of violent crime. They need persuasive public opinion to get legislatures to enact statutes that would call for the death penalty in certain categories of offenses, particularly murder. The machinery of law enforcement must also be re- oiled to cope with assaults on police officers. Far too many policemen are being attacked, in some cases fatally.

The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States last year in outlawing the death penalty declared, in effect, open season on police officers and innocent citizens as far as homicidal criminals are concerned. The high court did, however, leave a loophole for state legislatures. They can enact new statutes to replace those that were held unconstitutional. The Supreme Court's reasoning in abolishing the death penalty does not hold water rationally. The Court ruled, in effect, that death penalties were "cruel and unusual" punishment. The decision did not take into account what happened to the victims of the killer. Some way, our state legislatures must recognize the right of the innocent citizen to live. They also should provide adequate punishment for those who feloniously take lives.

Those district attorneys in the various counties of the nation who have not advocated new legislation already should do so as theirs is the area where the law ultimately is enforced. The urging of citizens will help this cause. For those prosecutors who already have made statute proposals to the lawmaking bodies, a letter of support will help correct a mistake made by the Supreme Court. The time to act is now. Crime must be halted. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Nation's Pay Czar Vows He'll Head Off Tough Strikes This Year

WASHINGTON— Harvard's Arts and Sciences dean, Prof. John Dunlop, the toughest pragmatic theorist since Pericles, finally has decided to make peace with the press -- for what he might call "a family" of reasons: as Lyndon Johnson once said, the papers come out every day and he doesn't. In fact, Dunlop, the drafted economic czar of all Americans, doesn't want to come out at all.

But neither does he wish, as director of the all-powerful Cost of Living Council, to have the press whip up the rank-and-file in an industry or a region if workers in another business or sector get higher wage increases.

So for these and other reasons, Prof. Dunlop called some 15 newsmen to a second-floor suite Wednesday morning and held a seminar more highly significant than it appears.

This fantastically brilliant dean, who lives on airplanes shuttling between Cambridge and the old Pay Board headquarters and Labor Dept., blew the whistle on the old 5.5 per cent annual wage increase theory, which Mr. Nixon's confidential adviser John Ehrlichman calls ancient "folklore" --- and started a whole new ballgame.

Prof. Dunlop now is the nation's labor disputes chief. Singlehandedly he will be the broker in every major labor contract negotiation for the duration.

Old-fashioned stabilization is gone. The old Pay Board merely computed. It avoided dispute like the London flu. Prof. Dunlop has reversed this. He'll be the infighter, whether it's the crisis in rubber (April 20), or GE, or auto, and even in the 1974 steel negotiations.

He'll get in first with the most for both sides. What does this mean in average wage increases as nearly as can be predicted? Well, as chairman of the Construction Industry Stabilization Committee (CISC) he permitted, or held (depending on your views), the average building and construction union pay and fringe raise to 8.2 per cent in 1972.

Thus the nation now can expect this figure as one Dunlop believes permissible for this past year and I will presume as the floor for increases this year around the country. So one might look to "average" industry raises in fringes and cash running to 9, 10 even 11 per cent annually.

During the so-called anonymous breifing by "a high Cost of Living Council official" (who , of course, was John Dunlop himself), he made it clear that it would be tough to avoid crises. But he would have, he said, the advantage of more than 30 years of practice and study in labor relations. During this time he said he had developed contacts with leaders in labor and management. This is telling it like it is. He is the one man in the construction industry both sides --- and they are tough' --- swear by, not at.

But Dunlop, who got construction union chiefs up for a 6:30 a.m. breakfast in Bal Harbour, Fla., last week, is not dealing with construction alone now. He has that industry under contol. And at a good shake for the unions. Now he's dealing with labor chiefs he really doesn't know too well , many of whom are allergic to Ivy League professors.

Like every strong man, he knows his weaknesses. He fears an outbreak of the British "strike-a - day" type of revolt against stabilization standards. He fears being shot at when wage settlements go --- as they will --- almost double the 5.5 per cent standard. He fears being misunderstood by the press.

So he explains what appears to be his personal early-warning alert system. It seems to observers he was saying the Cost of Living Council --- meaning himself and labor's friend, Secretary of the Treasury Shultz --- will use a backdoor approach to looming contract disputes.

They will keep a low profile. They will move where they can. Get to United Rubber Workers' chief Peter Bommarito (soon to be recognized as one of labor's strong men) when his union gets deep into negotiations with the Big Four rubber companies. Get to Paul Jennings at the Internationals Union of Electrical Workers before positions are frozen in the drive for a new contract with General Electric and Westinghouse.

He will even move shortly for talks with the auto union's Leonard Woodcock and colleagues in the various Big Three auto field.

And there is talk of attempting to bring Big Steel's Heath Larry and big steel labor's I.W. Abel together for an early agreement, months in advance of the 1974 deadline, on voluntary arbitration. This is a good moment for such a daring move. Abel and Walter Burke (union's national secretary treasurer) must retire at the end of their new term in mid - 1977. They are in a strong position to argue with their 1.2 million rank and filers. Union president Abel long has wanted such a system of voluntary arbitration to avoid a national steel strike.

If anybody can father this, Dunlop can. Perhaps he'll be able to ward off strikes and even strike crises. It will have to be stabilization of mediation, argumentation and manipulation.

That's Dunlop's way. He's so eager to try, he's now even willing to explain it all to newsmen. The infexible professor is showing such flexibility he may yet succeed.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON— Despite a booming economy and a more stable dollar, the stock market is tumbling. The biggest reason, among many, is that the small investors have lost faith in Wall Street.

This has stirred the flamboyant financier, Ross Perot, to the rescue. He is preparing to launch a million-dollar campaign to save Wall Street.

"Mom and pop aren't coming to Wall Street any more," Perot told us during a visit to our offices. "So' I'm going to bring Wall Street to them."

Perot hopes to accomplish this with a massive media campaign that will include homilies on the do's and dont's of playing the stock market. He has bypassed Madison Avenue and authored the forthcoming newspaper appeals himself.

He hopes his campaign will persuade "the little guy" to invest in duPont Glore Forgan, the prestigious securities firm that nearly fell apart two years ago. Perot stepped in and rebuilt duPont with loans totalling nearly $80 million. He now exercises so much control that he personally hires each new member of the 2,500- man firm.

The bantam- weight billionaire-- promising "straight talk and no bull"- will stress conservative buying on Wall Street. "This is no gimmick." he swears. "The little guy is our institution. He has been scared away from Wall Street because it has forgotten how to protect the original money invested. We're going to change all that. Wall Street won't ever be the same again."

Footnote: Meanwhile, Perot is locked in a fierce competitive battle behind the scenes with IBM to land a hugh social services computer contract in New York State. Perot's computer firm, Electronic Data Systems, apparently was in trouble in the early bidding last month. So Perot made a quiet trip to New York City where he met with Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and the state's social welfare chief, Abe Levine. As a result, some 10 other firms, which didn't meet with Rockefeller, were eliminated from the bidding. Now Perot has 60 days to come up with a proposal better than either IBM or Tourche Ross, which are also included in the final bidding. At stake is the biggest contract ever awarded by a state to computerize welfare and Medicaid.

CHANGING CAUSES--Antiwar activists have been looking for a new cause since the Vietnam cease-fire was signed. Many are switching to the antipoverty crusade. Already, antiwar leaders are trying to rally their followers to demonstrate against the budget cuts in the antipoverty programs. They're talking about a "summer of discontent" this year and promising to fill the jails to dramatize the plight of the poor.

ECONOMY FOR OTHERS-- President Nixon's new defense chief, Elliot Richardson, has a reputation as a great economizer. He has vowed sternly to enforce the President's economy edicts at the Pentagon. But Richardson is less solicitous of the taxpayers' money when it comes to satisfying his own tastes. For example, he didn't like the color of his black Pentagon limousine. So he ordered the car painted blue at a cost to the taxpayers of $480.

WIRETAP DISCOVERED-- A wiretap discovered at the Virginia home of an Agriculture official, Charles Davenport, has triggered an intensive FBI investigation. Agents have already arrested one man, Jeris Bragan, for his alleged involvement in planting the device. Other arrests are expected.

HELICOPTER INVESTIGATION?-- We recently reported that hundreds of military helicopters, many of them perfectly airworthy, were being consigned to the scrap heap while police forces around the country were paying tens of thousands of dollars more than necessary for brand new choppers. The Federal Avaiation Administration, we charged, was playing bureaucratic games with local police to force them to buy new aircraft. Our story has stirred Rep. Bob Leggett, D— Calif., into demanding a congressional investigation. In a private letter to House Commerce Chairman Harley Staggers, Leggett has written: "A potential rip- off of domestic aviation is resulting from (the FAA's) restrictive actions...."

CORRECTION-- We reported the other day that Mrs. Pat Schroeder, the young housewife from Colorado, was the only woman serving on the House Armed Services Committee. We apologize to Rep. Marjorie Holt, R— Md., the committee's only grandmother, whom we overlooked.

POSTAL CRACKDOWN-- Postal authorities are cracking down on employes who don't like to work overtime. E.H. Rapee, who's in charge of the Washington City Post Office, has issued stern instructions to all his directors to double check medical excuses from employes who seek to be excused from mandatory overtime. "Employes submitting medical certificates for excuse from overtime are to be instructed to contact the Medical Unit for appointment so that evaluation of their condition may be made," writes Rapee, adding sternly: "This memorandum is not to be reproduced." We tried to contact Rapee about the memo, but a spokesman explained he was "out sick."

NEW YORK (AP) — Opportunity knocks but once, they say, but sometimes it's better to turn a deaf ear to the door.

One of the times to let opportunity beat its knuckles in vain on your portal is when it comes to offer you a job you don't want.

Many people make a sorry brag that they undoubtedly have the worst job in the whole wide world. That couldn' be true for all of them. No matter how boring, vexing or worrisome your job is, you usually can look around and see someone who has a job so bad you wouldn't trade yours for it.

Here, for example, are a few jobs I wouldn't want to moonlight on — let a one work at them full time:

Quality taster at a library paste factory.

A mermaid at the aquarium.

A door-to-door anvil salesman.

A human fly with arthritis.

Resident dentist on an alligator farm.

An obstetrician for elephants.

A bra manufacturer during a rubber shortage.

Talent scout for a kiddies television show.

Superintendent of an old-fashioned county poor farm.

The official handshaker at a convention of octopuses.

Chairman of the entertainment committee at a national meeting of Mafia leaders.

Stand-in in a wax museum.

Morale officer in a concentration camp.

A bathing suit salesman in Siberia.

The night watchman at the city dog pound.

The tax attorney for Howard Hughes.

The dietician for Jackie Gleason.

The social secretary for Count Dracula and his family.

And now do you still think you've got the worst job in the world?

What's the law?

The case of the cagey teller

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Marvin was a true philosopher. He always knew what to do until it happened to him. For example, while making a deposit in a bank one fateful day, he was at a total loss when a gunman suddenly put a pistol to his head and warned the teller that unless he turned over $1,000 to him, forthwith, he would blow poor Marvin's brains out.

And when the cagey teller quickly ducked benind his bullet-proof cage, that's exactly what the gunman did. He pulled the trigger and dispatched luckless Marvin to greener banking facilities in the sky.

In due course, the executor of Marvin's estate sued the bank for Marvin's untimely departure.

"The teller had no right to try to be a hero," he complained in court. "When the gunman produced his pistol, the teller should have produced anything the gunman wanted."

"That's ridiculous," responded a bank official. "If we did that, we'd have more bank robbers than customers. Because Marvin got shot just isn't our fault. A bank, obviously, can't be held responsible for the criminal acts of a hold- up man. These days they come and go like it was in the ordinary course of business."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the bank pay up for Marvin's death?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a bank, while it is not an insurer of the safety of its customers, must use reasonable care for their protection and may not try to frustrate a criminal act in disregard of that duty. When it's a question of giving up its money or endangering the life of a patron, concluded the judge in effect, the bank, graciously or otherwise, must yield up its loot.

Eggs, oats taken in two break-ins

DUDLEY— Two chicken houses located on Route WW near Dudley were broken into Saturday night. Thieves took 2,000 eggs, 1,200 pounds of oats, a clock and several small hand tools. Entry was gained by prying the lock off the front door.

The chicken houses are owned by George Cates and Robert Stoner.

Investigation is continuing by the Stoddard County sheriff's department.

The Dudley Farm Service building was broken into Friday night or early Saturday morning. Stoddard County Sheriff Ralph Mouser said several lawnmowers had been moved to the rear door, but that the burglars apparently were scared away and nothing was missing. Entry was gained by forcing a lock on the front door.

Dudley Farm Service is owned by Sterling Guinn.

Readers sound out on Homos

Ann Landers: I refuse to call you "dear" because you are an empty headed, ignorant, meddling fool. For years I have read your column and believed you were a friend of homosexuals. A few days ago you turned on us like a jungle animal and exposed your hypocrisy and ignorance.

I am shocked and outraged that you would call us "sick" and describe homosexual activity as "unnatural." How dare you? We already have many psychiatrists on our side. Some excellent papers have been written on the subject. They have given us a clean bill of health. They say we are NOT sick. We are only different. Why is it that you haven't read those papers? I think you should be fired for incompetence.---Former Reader

Dear Former: I have read them, but I don't happen to agree with the authors. I am with the psychiatrists who believe homosexuals are sick and that sex between two men or two women is unnatural. I can listen to and respect opinions different from my own, however, without becoming angry, shocked, or outraged. Some highly reputable physicians are on the other side of this argument. Here is some samples of my mail:

From the British West Indies: Dear Ann Landers: May I congratulate you on your concise and perspicacious answer to a homosexual who signed himself, "One." Twenty-five years ago I was "one." also. After six years of in-depth analysis my life was changed completely. You are right when you say homosexuals are sick and their sex activity is unnatural. It is difficult to explain to a homosexual just how sick and unnatural it is. They refuse to believe it. But I know, because I've been there and back.---Forever Straight.

From Topeka, Kansas: Thank you for stating that homosexuality is an illness. I made the same statement on the Merv Griffin show not long ago and have had a great deal of angry mail because of it. You do a good job, Ann. Thank you.---Harold M. Voth, M.D., Menninger Foundation

Chicago, Illinois: I have worked with many homosexuals and, in my opinion, they are individuals whose emotional development was arrested at a preadolescent level. When a massive lack of development in the maturation process occurs in any area, it can be referred to as an illness in psychiatric terms.---Dr. Sara Charles, Assistant Professor Of Psychiatry, University Of Illinois.

From Houston, Texas: Homosexuality, in my opinion, is not normal or natural behavior. The original purpose of sexual activity was to perpetuate the species. Any deviation from the norm that threatens "the herd" cannot be considered normal or natural. Please do not use my name since I am not a specialist in this field. ---Heart Surgeon, Baylor University

From New York: I would not call homosexuality a "dysfunction" as you did in your column recently, because this means the inability to use sex organs adequately, which many homosexuals are able to do. Homosexuality, however, is a distortion of the choice of sex partner from the natural to the unnatural. This distortion comes from severe and early developmental problems caused by an inability to relate to significant adults. ---Natalie Shainess, M.D.

So there you have a small sampling, dear readers. And my thanks to all who wrote----even the angry and hostile readers. I appreciate all points of view, whether I agree with them or not.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, self-addressed envelope to this newspaper.

Smith-Edwards

Trinity Baptist Church was the setting for the candlelight wedding of Karen Edwards to George Smith. The double- ring ceremony was performed at 7:30 p.m. by the Rev. Charles W. Jones of Benton, Ark., cousin of the bride.

The new Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Edwards, 407 Edmondson, and Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith Sr. of Route One.

The couple exchanged vows before candelabras covered with greenery and candle trees placed on each side of the altar. The aisles were decorated with candles covered with greenery, pink and burgundy bows and streamers. After being pronounced man and wife, the bride presented the groom's mother with a long-stemmed red rose.

Miss Georgia Houchens, organist, played prenuptial music and accompanied Joel Allen as he sang, "More", "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face" and "The Lord's Prayer". She also played the Wedding March as she did for the bride's parents 25 years ago.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, presented her mother a long -stemmed red rose as she walked down the white-carpeted aisle. She wore a formal gown of white Granada lace with a high neckline encircled with a ruffle and long, bellowing sleeves of chiffon with the same lace ruffle at the wrist. The empire bodice was encircled with a ruffle edged with lace and white chiffon ribbon, ending with a tailored bow with long streamers.

Her A-line silhoutte skirt was softly gathered at the empire waistline and fell softly into a gentle sweep of gathers in the back with a deep ruffle at the bottom of the skirt edged with lace. Her headpiece was a chapel - length mantilla held secure with a contour cap of Chantilly lace and accented with king seed pearls.

The long veil was completely edged with scalloped Chantilly lace. Her only jewelry was a cameo pin belonging to her mother. She carried a bouquet of pink and burgundy rosebuds in the shape of a cross. Her dress was designed and made by a friend, Mrs. Dorothy Collier.

Miss Janet Myers served as maid of honor. She wore an empire- style dress with ruffled neckline and long, full sleeves gathered in ruffles at the wrist. The softly gathered skirt ended with a deep ruffle at the bottom of pale pink crepe and was accented with a velveteen burgundy bolero. She wore a pink velvet bow in her hair and carried a long-stemmed pink rose with pink and burgundy ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Pam Edwards, sister-in- law of the bride, and Mrs. Martha Allen. They wore dresses identical to the one worn by the maid of honor and each carried a long- stemmed red rose with pink and burgundy ribbons.

Candlelighters were Janie Smith, sister of the groom, and Mike Collier. Miss Smith wore a dress identical to those worn by the other attendants and a wrist corsage of pink carnations. Collier wore a burdungy tuxedo and pink ruffled shirt and black fly tie.

Susan Collier was flower girl. Her dress was fashioned after the dresses of the other attendants and she carried a white lace basket with pink carnations trimmed with pink and burgundy bows and streamers.

Ringbearer was William Smith, brother of the groom. He carried a white satin pillow with burgundy streamers and wore a burgundy plaid coat and burgundy slacks.

The groom chose Danny Sutton as best man. Groomsmen were Webb Edwards, brother of the bride, and Glenn Greene Jr. Ushers were Dennis McGarrity of Essex, brother-in- law of the groom, and Garry Vaught, All the men of the wedding party wore burgundy tuxedos with pink ruffled shirts and black fly ties.

The mother of the bride chose for her daughter's wedding a pink, velvet, A-line jumper with a long skirt and pink flowered chiffon blouse with high neckline and full sleeves ending with cuffs at the wrist. Her corsage was pink carnations accented with pink and burgundy bows.

The groom's mother wore a blue dress with long lace sleeves and fitted bodice trimmed with rhinestones and long A-line skirt. Her corsage was pink carnations accented with pink and burgundy bows.

Mrs. Sally Hodges of Wyatt was in charge of the guest book.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the blue and gold community room of the Security Federal Savings and Loan building. The bride's table was covered with pink net and bows. The four-tiered cake centered the table and was topped with a minature bride and groom. On both sides of the cake were silver candelabras. At one end was a silver coffee service with crystal punch bowl and at the other greenery.

Mrs. Vanessa McGarrity of Essex, sister of the groom, Miss Libby Whitworth, Miss Jami Ward and Miss Marie Eddleman of Perryville were servers.

Misses Mary Beth and Jill Meyer passed out rice bags.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents in the banquet room of the El Capri restaurant for the wedding party and close friends on Feb. 2.

After a short wedding trip, the couple now lives at Bertrand Route One. Smith is employed by Moore's Missouri Company.

Showers included those given by Mrs. Joel Allen and Miss Janet Myers on Jan. 12 as a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Suver; a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Dorothy Collier, Mrs. Pearl Hampton, Mrs. Libby Heuiser and Mrs. Edna Mulcahy on Jan. 26 at Trinity Baptist Church; and one given by Mrs. Dennis McGarrity at her home in Essex on Jan. 27.

How to dream with your eyes wide open.

Everybody likes to dream. But the chances of seeing a dream become reality are pretty slim. Unless you're crafty enough to figure out a smart way to save. One that's practical and painless. One that won't eat up your paycheck but will still give you a chance to salt something away.

If you're smart, you'll decide on U.S. Savings Bonds. They're one of the easiest ways to save. Just sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Then an amount you specify will be automatically set aside from your paycheck and used to buy Bonds.

So, if you're not satisfied with just dreaming, buy U.S. Savings Bonds. Then you'll find out there's no such thing as an impossible dream.

Now E Bonds pay 5½% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months—4% the first year. Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Paulo was born Jan. 5, 1956, and has two brothers at home. His father is the director of Cinemas E. Teatros Minas Gerais, the largest movie studio in Brazil. The family makes its home in Belo Horizonte about 200 miles from Rio de Janeiro. It is in the mountains and has about two million people.

The school days in Brazil are from 7 a.m. until noon, and Paulo stated it will take a few days to get used to the difference. The food, too, is much sweeter.

Some of Paulo's hobbies include riding and jumping horses. At home, his favorite horse is Eden, meaning paradise.

Paulo says he really likes the people and is enjoying his stay.

Mrs. Owenby speaker for Jr. Women

Birth control, abortion legalization and the changing role of the family in society were topics of discussion at the Feb. 26 meeting of Junior Woman's Club. Mrs. W.A. Owenby of Cape Girardeau, family life division chairman of the Missouri Federated Women's Clubs, was guest speaker.

Mrs. Owenby stressed the changes in family activities during the present adult generations. She emphasized the fact that fewer homemakers bake bread, fewer children walk to school and fewer families spend evenings together-- unless in front of a television set.

These, she said, are radical changes from her child hood and definite changes from the youthful days of her children who are now young parents themselves--- who buy factory- made bread, drive their children to school and absorb television each evening.

Announcement was made that the Big River Appaloosa Horse Club- Sikeston Junior Woman's Club co- sponsored horse show will be held April 28 at 10 a.m. at the Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo grounds in rural Sikeston. The event will last until evening.

Additional information will be released periodically until the show date, and those wishing information now may call any member of either club.

The Clines have week of crisis

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of articles giving a personal view of Jefferson City by Mrs. Kay Cline, wife of C. F. Cline, state representative for the 159th District.

By KAY CLINE

You will not believe what has happened to us during the past two weeks, but I will tell you anyway. I swear this really happened.

Our life of crisis began on Saturday morning, Feb. 17. I caught my kitchen in Sikeston on fire.

I was fixing breakfast and turned on the fire under a pan of grease. The delivery men from Lewis Furniture Company came with a small three-drawer chest. I let them in the door and the four of us proceeded to the bedroom where the chest was to be placed. (I forgot about the bacon grease.)

When I came back into the kitchen, the pan of grease, cabinets and stove's hood were afire. I started yelling "fire," and all three men came running very quickly into the kitchen.

C. F. took the throw rug and threw it over the pan. All three men worked very fast to put out the fire. I would like to give a big "thank you" to the delivery men who worked to help us.

After the fire was out, the fire department was called. They came over to make sure the fire was out and to look at the damages. C. F. contacted a contractor to take care of the smoke damage and the burned cabinets.

C. F. then returned to Jefferson City. After the legislators were dismissed for the day, he first went to check on the mobile home which we have rented (to take the place of our old apartment) and found that the hot water heater had burst. Water was all over the mobile home.

C. F. contacted the landlord and told him of the trouble. He said he would fix it and not to worry, that the mobile home would be fixed for us to move into when we had planned (this week).

From the mobile home, C. F. went to a committee meeting. When the meeting was over, he went to our old apartment, where he found he did not have any electricity. It had been turned off over the weekend. Everything in the refrigerator was ruined. He contacted the landlady at 11 p.m. to turn on the electricity.

On Sunday, Feb. 25, we came back early to move to our mobile home, only to find that the electricity and telephone at the mobile home had been turned off during the past week.

We could not move, so we decided we would make all the necessary arrangements on Monday morning. The telephone company told C. F. the men did not start work until 9 a.m. The service men came at 8:10 and I arrived at 8:30, thinking I would be at the mobile home on time.

I sat from 8:30 until 12 waiting for the service man (the one who had been there at 8:10 and left because he had found neither of us there).

I left at 12 to call the telephone company. They promised me faithfully the man would come out at 1. I went back and sat until 4 when he finally came to service the phone.

Needless to say, I have some feeling about the telephone company! It would appear to me that the service desk and the service men would get together and try to give better service to the public. The electric company was very cooperative and excellent with their service.

With the telephone company taking so long, we could not move from our apartment to the mobile home until C. F. finished his committee meetings, which ended at 9 p.m. We went to the apartment and found the electricity had been turned off again. We proceeded to pack and move by flashlight. This was certainly a new experience for both of us.

I swear this is the truth. I could not possibly have made this up, and this is the reason why my column is two weeks' late. I would like to extend my apologies.

Oh, the joy of being married to a state representative.

Advance denied repeat

COLUMBIA, Mo--- Drouths are common place for Southeast Missouri and the first real big one of the year came Saturday night at the University of Missouri-Hearnes Multipurpose Center when the Advance Hornets, defending class S state basketball champions, suffered through two first half scoring drouths and failed in its bid to make history by falling to the event's cinderella team-Forsyth Panthers, 63-60.

Advance was bidding to become only the second team in Bootheel history to claim back to back state titles, moving alongside the illustrious 1951- 52 Puxico Indian teams, but couldn't fight off a persistent flu bug and a band of Ozark Hillbillies to accomplish the feat.

Although the AHS Hornets were shoo- in picks of the majority of the nearly 10,000 fans on hand, it was almost a foregone conclusion that something was bound to happen after the day long activity at the center was nearing its end.

Saturday was a record setting and upset day at the center. It all began shortly after 10:30 that morning when Mound City bowed to Westran 83- 71 in the class S consolation game, which was a mild surprise. Missouri University's John Brown followed a little after noon with a record setting pace that shattered the college's all- time scoring mark of Charlie Henke (1958-61--- 1, 338), scoring 41 points in a 79- 73 victory over Oklahoma State to give the 6- foot- 8 Mizzou Blonde Bomber a career total of 1,357 points. Palmyra followed that pace with a 58-54 come- from- behind victory over Webb City for the class M third place prize behind the record setting pace of Ron Tyler who bettered the class M scoring mark with 23 points, for a week- long total of 127. He toppled John Brown's mark of 126 set in 1969.

Coach Carroll Cookson's cagers looked far from the impressive unit that had sped past three earlier opponents in the state tournament as they opened up the game against the FHS Panthers, who weren't even expected to claim their regional title at the School of the Ozarks.

Forsyth beat the devastating Advance press, stopped the Hornets fast break and worked over their zone and man to man defenses on the way to claiming the title.

Forsyth took a 2-0 lead with 7:10 left in the first quarter and trailed only twice, 8- 7 and 10- 8 with 3:28 left in the period, as the Panthers lived up to their cinderella role.

Advance managed only four points during the next nine minutes and 26 seconds as the drouth set in on the Hornets and Forsyth sped to a 29- 12 lead. The Hornets closed to 31- 20 at the half.

After a lengthy halftime discussion with coach Cookson, his AHS unit came out and played the second half like they had looked most of the season, but the damage had already been done and the Panthers had gained confidence.

The Hornets closed to within five points, 46- 41 at the end of three quarters and got within one point with 6:13 and 2:10 left in the game, but couldn't climb that final hill as their fouling and lack of rebounding told the story.

Reserve Day Reynolds, a 5- foot- 8 junior, came off the bench in the second half to aid in the Panthers ball handling against the press but turned out to be the key figure in the Forsyth triumph with his seven of eight showing from the free throw line. His accuracy late in the game kept the Hornets at bay.

But the big story for Forsyth was Gene Harmon, whose 27 points spearheaded the Hornets victory. The big 6- foot- 4 pivot worked over the Hornets generally tough inside defense with driving layups and tip- ins and rebound shots.

Forsyth finished the game with a 47.5 shooting percentage from the field and 73.6 mark from the free throw line while Advance posted a 42.3 mark from outcourt and a 66.7 figure from the charity stripe. The Hornets out- scored the Panthers 25- 19 from the field but took a 25- 10 beating at the free throw stripe for the defeat.

The flu had started in on Wills early in the week and he had passed it along to the guard combo of Darrell Croy and Kenny Emerson before the week was out. The play of the Hornets two guards has been the mainspring of their torrid team all season and the flu physically took it out of the generally speedy combo.

But Advance had done well to get to the finals as they battled the flu. They'll likely be back next season as they lose four starters, but return a talented junior varsity unit that produced a 21- 1 season mark and picked up a lot of experience during the week in reserve volls.

The night's basketball action ended with Lutheran South upsetting Kansas City Manual 76- 62, to round out the big day on basketball surprises in this college town.

Changes help win for Baker

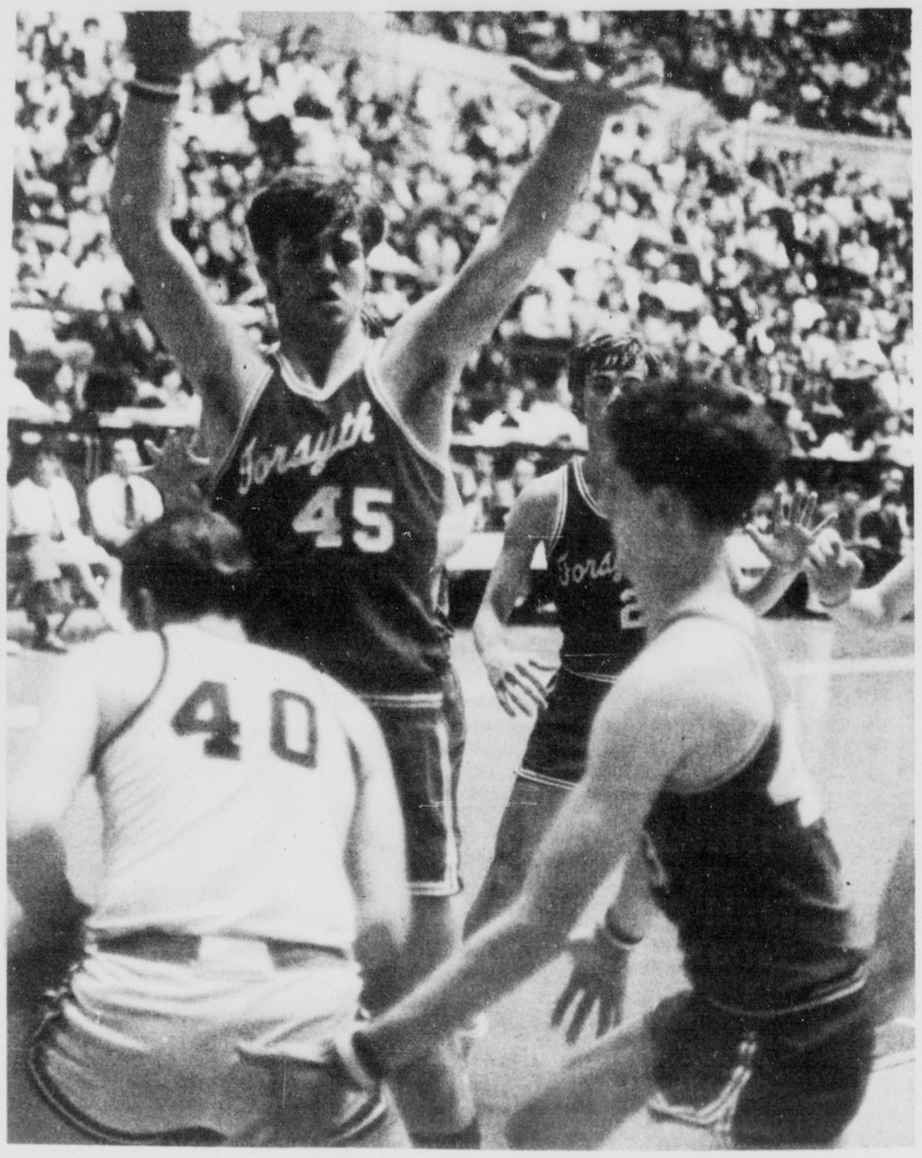

HICKORY, N.C. (AP)— Stock car driver Buddy Baker of Charlotte credits some midrace handling changes made on his 1973 Dodge with bringing him victory Sunday in the season- opener Grand National East 100-mile race at Hickory Speedway.

Baker and Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., swapped the lead four times and kept the crowd of 11,000 on its feet much of the first 143 laps of the 276- lap race.

Baker was three seconds behind when both cars pitted during a caution period. The Baker crew shifted some weight around in the car and that, Baker said, resulted in improved handling which enabled him to catch and pass Allison.

John Rhodes (40) was the big star this weekend for the Advance Hornets. The 6- foot- 3 senior was AHS's leading scorer with a total of 51 points, scoring 31 Friday and 20 Saturday.

Forsyth's two leading scorers, Ricky Turner (45) and Gene Harmon (43), close in on Advance's John Rhodes (40), during the class S championship game Saturday night. Advance's bid for a repeat title was snuffed out by the surprising Panthers, 63- 60.

State touney highlights

COLUMBIA, Mo.--- If going to the state tournaments are exciting, consider what it must be for a team to make it to the finals two years in a row. And so it was for the Advance Hornets.

The trip was a long one to make, but the players were not to be disappointed, for the usual big following that the Hornets always have was out for the big game Saturday night to give their support. The entire section reserved for Advance was filled before 5:30 for a game that was scheduled for 7:30. The Advance fans were easy to spot for most of them had spirit tags pinned on to let people know who they were for.

As the Hornets ran out for their warm- ups the crowd rose to their feet cheering and clapping. The cheerleaders started their yells during that time and the fans responded. Spirit was high throughout the crowd, ready for the game to begin.

In talking to some of the fans, one obvious point remained consistent--- pride. These people had been following the Hornets and they were proud to be making a return trip to the state finals with such a fine team.

Various comments by the students proved to show that everyone was up for the win, and despite the edge that Forshty had on the Hornets at halftime, not one person was down on the Advance team. Spirit ran through the crowd to help to try and carry the boys through to the win.

A student commented that not only were the players backed by the school itself, but by the whole town and that made the difference. Another stated that the adults were as much part of the spirit of the team as the kids themselves were.

The cheerleaders were given a great amount of credit also. Many fans commented on the outstanding job the girls did in supporting the Hornets. They were always in their pulling for the boys, never letting the spirit die.

Debbie Dunivan, captain of the Advance cheering squad, stated at half, "The Hornets have the ability to play good ball. Their teamwork is what has helped them to come this far."

Babette Morgan commented, "The most important thing about the Hornets is their ability to work together. These boys have played together since 6th grade, which has made them into such a strong team. They've just always known winning."

Even though the Advance Hornets failed to make it two years in a row for a state title, they are not to be forgotten. As one lady commented, "We'll be back next year."

John Brown (50) became the University of Missouri's all time leading scorer Saturday afternoon with his record setting pace of 41 points that gave him a career mark of 1,357 which bettered the 1,338 mark of Charlie Henke set in 1958- 61. Brown's 41 was a new career high for the 6- foot- 8 Mizzou athlete.

John Brown sets record

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Missouri University's blonde bomber, John Brown, went on a record setting spree Saturday afternoon in leading the Tigers to a 79-73 decision over Oklahoma State.

The former Dixon, Mo., prep star shattered the all time individual scoring mark of 1,338 set by Charlie Henke in 1958- 61 with a 41 point performance Saturday to give him a career high of 1,357. Missouri has two regular season games left on its schedule this week.

Brown looked at his performance and his record modestly, saying, "It's a little easier for me to score than it was in Charlie Henke's time. His game was a little slower. We have the 30- second clock now. The pace is much faster."

Later Saturday evening, Brown's high school mark of 126 points in four state tournament games, was cracked by Palmyra's 6-foot- 4 senior, Ron Tyler when he scored 23 points to lead PHS to thirdplace in the class Mtournament.

That gave Tyler a total of 127 points for the tournament, breaking by one the record set by Brown in 1969.

Females get Big 8 OK

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The University of Oklahoma has been reprimanded for holding a news conference on the signing of a student athlete and females are now eligible to compete in Big Eight Conference athletic competition.

This was part of the action taken during the winter sessions of the Big Eight faculty representatives, the league's governing body, which ended Saturday.

The faculty representatives reprimanded Oklahoma for arranging a news conference in Oklahoma City last July 22 to announce the signing of Alvan Adams, a freshman basketball star, who leads the conference in scoring. Adams played in the Sooners' first 21 games before he was sidelined with a fractured wrist.

Big Eight Commissioner Charles M. Neinas said in announcing the action that the Adams news conference was attended by John MacLeod, head basketball coach at Oklahoma, and John Keith, the school's sports information director, and that the conference was held with knowledge of Athletic Director Wade Walker.

Adams is from Putnam City, ,Okla. The conference action involved only a reprimand and no penalty, Neinas said.

The faculty representatives deleted the word "male" from the elibility rules, and Neinas said girls may now compete "if the girl meets the other requirements." He added whethera girl could go out for football would be "up to the institution."

Another year of football eligibility was granted under the hardship rule to three Nebraska players, I-back Ton Davis and defensive backs Chuck Jones and James Seeton, all of whom will be sophomores next season. All three were injured early in the 1972 season and played only briefly in one game.

The conference increased from four to five the number of games freshmen teams can play but not more than two away from home. It rejected a proposal to increase travel squads from 50 to 55 players in all games.

The dates for Kansas-Kansas State basketball games were changed from Tuesday nights to Wednesday nights. Games between the two schools are televised statewide. Neinas said the shift was made because Tuesday nights are traditionally a high school basketball night in the state of Kansas. Kansas will play Kansas State at Manhattan Feb. 13 and at Lawrence March 6 next season.

The conference voted to abolish the Big Eight letter-of-intent in sports other than football. This move was made, Neinas said, because it is anticipated that the national letter-of-intent for all sports will be earlier each year and that the national letter "takes precedent over all others anyway."

Golfer Don Bliss of Oklahoma State, who had been declared ineligible because he played with a professional in a pro- amateur tournament, was granted an eligibility exception and can now compete for the Cowboys. The conference also agreed that only institutional certification is necessary for athletes to compete in domestic invitational and open events and said athletic directors agreed to a self-imposed commitment not to increase their present full-time football coaching staffs.

Steeplechase was added to the outdoor track and field championships, effective this year. END ADVANCE

Impasse in strike

WICKLIFFE, Ky. — Negotiations in the strike of the United Paperworkers International Local 680 of the Westvaco facilities at Wickliffe remained at an impasse Friday after an attempt Thursday by federal mediators to meet with both sides apparently failed.

Richard Deem of the federal mediation and conciliation agency said his office had planned no further meetings with union officials or management.

The talks which were held Thursday in a Sikeston motel apparently broke down in the early stages.

Following the meeting, Roy L. Sharp. manager of the Wickliffe facilities for Westvaco, issued a statement which in part said,

"We are surprised that the negotiating committee of Local 680 has taken such an unyielding position without benefit of submitting the company's proposal to the union membership for a secret vote."

International negotiator Don Wilkes, contacted at his home near Louisville, Ky., would not comment on the terms which the union presented during the meeting Thursday.

Local 680 president Lloyd Walter was not available for comment.

Production at the fine papers mill of the company ceased the night of Feb. 10, after an offer of an increase of 6.25,6.25 and 6.5 per cent over a three- year period by the company was rejected by union negotiators.

This is the first contract to be negotiated at the new plant which has been in production for about two years.

3 arrested

EAST PRAIRIE— Three arrests were reported by police over the weekend.

Jap Matthews was sentenced to 30 days in jail on a charge of public intoxication this morning in City Court. The same charge brought a $30 fine to Earnest Easley. Tommy Mansfield, arrested for peace disturbance, remains in custody.

Longest City

Missouri losing business to right to work states

State Rep. Vic Downing of Bragg City today released to members of the House Labor Committee the results of a mail survey he conducted recently with 118 members of the Southern Industrial Development Council in 10 right to work states which compete directly and indirectly with Missouri for new industry. Responses were received from 71.

The industrial development experts pointed to the existence of right to work laws as a major reason the 19 Right to Work states attracted 1,362,000 new jobs from 1960- 70, compared to a combined total of 1,260,000 in the 31 states where compulsory unionism is permitted.

Said one man from Mississippi, which gained 66,000 new manufacturing jobs compared to Missouri's 51,000, "right to work is probably our number one selling point to new industrial prospects."

Said another from Georgia, "Our section of the country is presently being overrun with industrial prospects from the north. One of the main reasons, they tell us, is because we are a right to work state."

Rep. Downing called the responses "compelling and indisputable evidence that a state which puts right to work legislation to work protecting its working people also puts the law to work building a stronger economy."

Gene Mittelberg, executive vice president of Missourians for Right to Work, the citizens group which has been pressing for a state right to work law, called attention to several recent cases in which Missouri towns lost new industrial prospects to neighboring areas in right to work states. "While right to work remains first and foremost a matter of individual rights," he said, "it is all too evident that small and large businessmen alike have paid heed to AFL-CIO President George Meany when he stated that disputes over compulsory unionism are a 'frequent cause' of industrial strife."

Mittelberg quoted two recent letters sent to his organization by Missouri citizens concerned with the abuse of forced union membership.

Gary L. Swanson of Savannah, president of the Chamber of Commerce, wrote in a letter to Labor Committee Chairman Rep. Earl Schlef (D) Dellwood that his town "recently lost one of our best prospective new businesses. We lost a business to our community that would have hired 100 to 150 people. This company's representative told me that they elected to go to a town just over the border in Kansas because of their right to work legislation.

"Missouri is in the right geographical location at a good economic time. We need all the legislative assistance that we can get to remain economically competitive," he said.

Stephan M. Feran, executive vice president of the Greater Poplar Bluff Chamber of Commerce repeated a similar story. Just recently, he said, a major industrial prospect who was seriously considering Poplar Bluff as the location for a new plant decided instead to locate in nearby Arkansas. "This location is not far from Poplar Bluff, and the determining factor seemed to be that Arkansas is a right to work state."

Similar incidents have been reported in other areas of Missouri as well.

Proponents of the Missouri Right to Work law, including many union members and former members, young and old, will testify before the House Labor Committee in the House Chamber tonight starting at 8 o'clock. More than two dozen witnesses from across the state are expected to appear.

A SIX LANE BRIDGE

ROME (AP) — The Italian government is planning to build the world's longest suspension bridge across the Strait of Messina to Sicily. It will be 9,000 feet long, take five to eight years to complete and include a six-lane highway.

The bridge will have four massive towers, each 100 to 650 feet taller than New York's Empire State building.

Dollar rises

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. dollar improved sharply in bank-to-bank dealings today as European foreign exchanges remained shut for the second day while monetary experts sought ways of forestalling a renewal of speculation.

Dealers said the dollar's improvement apparently came from some profit taking by speculators who unloaded more than $15 billion during the past two weeks to buy stronger currencies.

Experts doubted that the improvement would last.

As the dollar moved up, the British pound slumped, and the price of gold declined.

Foreign money exchanges closed

BRUSSELS (AP) — The foreign exchange markets of the nine Common Market members will be closed all this week as the world's richest countries prepare for more talks later this week, seeking a solution to the dollar crisis.

The Common Market's finance ministers met Sunday at their headquarters in Brussels and decided to extend the market closing they had ordered last Thursday night. But they failed to agree on a joint program to protect their currencies.

The ministers said they would meet again Thursday in Brussels. They announced another conference for Paris on Friday to which the United States, Japan and other major trading nations would be invited. And the nine said they would meet again in Brussels next Sunday.

The U.S. Treasury said that it wants to cooperate with the other major trading nations in solving the monetary crisis. But it stopped short of promising to participate in the conference Friday.

Japan joined the European countries in closing its foreign exchange market for the week. The halt to official trading takes the pressure off the state banks, which last week spent billions to keep the U.S. dollar from falling below its floor.

The dollar was devalued 10 per cent on Feb. 12. Closing the exchanges means there will not be any agency enforcing a fixed set of exchange rates during the week's trading on private money markets.

The Common Market finance ministers said the assault on the dollar "was due to a distrust of speculative origin" and was not justified by the official exchange rates.

Valery Giscard D'Estaing, the French finance minister, told newsmen the Euopean governments were "eager to defend the present set of parities.... We do not want to let the European currencies float upward as this would affect our competitiveness."

Other informants said there had been sentiment among the ministers for a float. But they could not agree whether their currencies should float individually or be fixed against each other and float jointly against the dollar.

Defense Secretary claims no funds to aid North Viets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson said today there are no "pockets of fat" in the defense budget to pay for postwar reconstruction of North Vietnam.

Richardson said, however, it may be possible to come up with the funds if the cease-fire is fully adhered to by North and South Vietnam.

In that case, he said, some of the $2.9 billion programmed for Southeast Asia in the 1974 fiscal budget could be used for postwar aid.

The secretary denied that he was at odds with President Nixon, who said Friday that postwar aid to the North, if approved by Congress, would come from existing defense and foreign-aid funds.

The President was saying the money can be provided but was not suggesting that funds in the Pentagon budget were already programmed for postwar aid, Richardson told a news conference.

Richardson said another possibility would be that if Congress cut the over-all $79-billion fiscal 1974 defense budget, the cuts could be reprogrammed for aid to the North.

But as it stands now, Richardson said, the new budget is austere with little room for trimming.

"I have not been able to find any pockets of fat ... There aren't any," he told reporters.

Support lacking for Arab guerrillas

BEIRUT (AP) — The Arab world, as reflected in its press, displayed a marked lack of support today for the Black September guerrillas who seized the Saudi Arabian Embassy in Khartoum and killed two American diplomats and one Belgian.

Government-controlled radios and newspapers in Libya, Syria and Iraq continued to withhold comment. In the past, they have been quick to hail Black September operations.

Egyptian newspapers all sought to blame Palestinian guerrilla violence on continued American military support of Israel but there was no openly expressed support for the Khartoum slayings.

Arab World, a respected digest and analysis of Arab affairs said "The Khartoum operation has sealed the fate of the guerrilla leaders (who) the Black Septemberists tried to save in Jordan."

King Hussein of Jordan Sunday night approved death sentences for the 20 Palestinian guerrillas, including guerrilla leader Mohammed Daoud Odeh, charged with plotting to kidnap Jordan's Prime Minister Ahmed Lozi and overthrow the monarchy.

The Black Septembrists, who surrendered Sunday after a 60-hour siege of the embassy, called themselves "The Abu Daoud Squad" and made Daoud's release their No. 1 demand.

Most Beirut newspapers expected the guerrilla presence in Sudan to be sharply restricted.

3 way race for mayor

PORTAGEVILLE — Three-way races for the office of mayor and ward one alderman in the April 3 city election developed before the filing deadline at midnight Saturday.

Jimmy D. Foster and former mayor Barry Richardson filed Friday afternoon to oppose Mrs. Helen Thompson for the mayor's post. Mayor Roy Moore is not seeking re-election after serving one term.

Preston Shaw declared his candidacy for ward one alderman, opposing Benny Goodman and Albert (Bud) Sisson. The post is being vacated Lewis Hoxworth.

Ward two alderman Don Rone is opposed for re-election by Bill Brown. W. D. boon withdrew Friday from the race.

In contests for other offices, Delbert Richardson is opposing Margaret DeRousse Phillips for collector; Police Chief Joe Moore is opposed for re- election by Jack Young; and Taylor Noles Sr. is opposed for a one- year unexpired term for police judge by Joe Holland.

The House continues hearings on a 27-page bill and the Senate is expected to begin floor debate on its 160-page bill, which started out at 540 pages.

The major differrnce in the two versions is that the House bill merely outlines transfers and the Senate bill changes the laws on most of the state's 90 agencies in the executive branch. Under the House bill, the revisions could come later.

Government reorganization, to be effective July 1, 1974, will consolidate state government under 13 departments.

Among the first Senate passed bills ready for House action is a measure calling for a zero-based budget from all departments. The zero-based budgeting concept takes the approach that each agency will come to the annual budget hearings with no money and must justify everything it gets.

The governor's staff favors a program budgeting method, contending the zero method doesn't give any guide as to where to allocate resources.

Another tug-of-war was developing between the Senate and the governor's office over an appointment to the University of Missouri Board of Curators.
